Japan's Reply to U.S. on Trade Unsatisfactory

Hull Says Government Studying Position Brought By Monopolies

Statement Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Cordell Hull declared today Japan's reply to the United States note of October 6 was unsatisfactory.

Mr. Hull's note had asserted Japan was violating American rights in China in an extensive series of monopolies, trade restrictions, currency changes and tariff alterations.

The Secretary of State said the Japanese reply received this week was not responsive to the position of the United States as set forth in his note of October 6, and to the general position which the country has taken throughout its history with regard to American rights and interests, not only in relations with China but also in relations with all countries.

FACTORS STUDIED

Mr. Hull added he preferred not to comment further until the State Department had more time to study the substance and implications of the Japanese note.

Japan's reply claimed the principles of the past did not apply in the present situation in China and a "new order" had risen in eastern Asia.

This was interpreted here to mean Japan was throwing overboard the Nine-Power Treaty guaranteeing China's integrity [illegible] of economic opportunity there.

Plan for End of Spanish War

Chamberlain and Daladier to Study Scheme Tomorrow

PARIS (AP)—Quarters close to the government reported today a plan for settlement of the Spanish civil war would be studied by Premier Daladier and Prime Minister Chamberlain during their talks which begin tomorrow.

It was understood the proposal would be submitted to Germany and Italy for their approval as soon as international tension has sufficiently eased.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet conferred yesterday with Julio Alvarez del Vayo, Spanish Foreign Minister, and was said to have received the Spanish government's views regarding the plan.

M. Bonnet had hoped to have his projected German-French friendship declaration ready in time for Mr. Chamberlain's visit, but it was said to be delayed by German demands.

These were understood to include a demand that the trial of Herschel Grynszpan, young Jew who shot Ernst von Rath, German legation secretary, be held in secret and France adopt measures to stop press criticism of Chancellor Hitler.

Decrees to meet these demands have been prepared by the cabinet and even announced publicly, but Justice Minister Paul Marchandeau has refused to sign them.

Politicians Spar For Positions on Trade Treaties

Issue Welcomed To Revive Interest In Old-time Parties

Deathblow for C.C.F.?

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

OTTAWA—Schools of political thought on Parliament Hill are already showing a definite disposition to take sides on the Empire-Canada - United States trade agreement.

The indication is the Conservatives will take up the torch on behalf of central Canada industry, maintaining that Quebec and Ontario, in addition to already "paying the shot" for a guaranteed wheat price of 80 cents per bushel for the west, is being required to "give the party" in the new trade agreement, with the major concessions of the pact being at the expense of the two old provinces.

The Liberals, for their part, evidence high satisfaction with the bargain. It is more extensive than their highest hopes and they see it going a long way towards meeting western and Maritime economic discontent. They contend it has been so worked out that no efficient industry in central Canada will be injured. Also, that it represents a forward stride in the direction of the wholly desirable goal of national unity: That, in fact, it constitutes "a national policy" for the Dominion.

UNIFYING FACTOR

The reasoning in support is that the treaty "levels out" some of the undue tariff advantages Ontario and Quebec have enjoyed and confers upon the four western and three Maritime provinces benefits calculated to restore the waning faith of their peoples in the continuing wisdom of Confederation.

The treaty will be strongly argued as a concrete and major breach in the nationalistic barriers impeding world trade. The prospect of treaties between Washington and Australia and South Africa is pointed to with the likelihood in the near future of the entire British world and the American Republic being tied up in one trading system, into which France enters automatically by reason of her most favored nation treaties.

With the world's democracies thus joined, the nationalistic powers will ultimately have no alternative to seeking adherence to the concert, if they would maintain their own commercial economies.

TORIES SEEK OPPORTUNITY

Federal Conservatives are disposed to look upon the new pact as the first gleam of dawn lightening their black night and showing them the way in which the Grand Old Party should go. They are beginning to feel instinctively the time has arrived to trot out the old tariff horse once more through the industrial provinces of Ontario and Quebec. Also, down east the blow which the removal of the six cents per bushel wheat preference deals to the Maritime ports will be capitalized, while it will also be contended that the fishery concessions are insufficient to enable fish from the Canadian Atlantic seaboard to enter the United States market. In the west the slogan will be a square deal for the east in order that it may be able to support the subsidies the western farmed is already receiving. A guaranteed minimum price of 80 cents for wheat, and financial assistance upon the scale afforded to western provinces for several years now will become impossible, it will be urged, if industry in central Canada is not to be ruined or suffer a major setback.

Politically, one of the major possibilities of the new treaty, which represents the fervent hope of Liberals and Conservatives alike, is that it will eliminate third parties as a factor of consequence in federal affairs. This prospect is based upon the assumption the new agreement is destined to become the one over-riding issue before the Canadian electorate, with only two positions to be taken—for or against—and room for only two parties in the controversy. The C.C.F. platform of appealing to social discontent would go unnoticed in the concentration of the national spotlight upon the larger issue.

EX-AUSTRIAN CHIEF IN WEAK STATE

Von Schuschnigg Suffers Breakdown; Nazis May Free Him

LONDON (CP-Havas) — A special correspondent of the London Daily Herald, Labor, wrote today that the former Austrian Chancellor, Kurt von Schuschnigg, has suffered "an almost complete mental breakdown" and is so feeble he must walk on crutches.

"Friends of Von Schuschnigg, the imprisoned Austrian Chancellor," the article said, "are gravely anxious following the Daily Herald forecast that he is not to be tried but will shortly be released. . .

"He has lost many pounds in weight. Most of the day, it is said, he spends sitting practically motionless and staring into vacancy. Though his friends are happy at the prospect of his release, they are only too afraid that his fate may be that of Karl von Ossietzky, Nobel Peace Prize winner, who was released only to die."

Shorter Hours for Christmas Rush

Two Hours on Each Of Two Days Before Holiday for Stores

The buying public has become so accustomed to doing its Christmas shopping early that many of the larger stores in British Columbia, particularly in Vancouver, will not remain open late this Christmas, Adam Bell, chairman of the Board of Industrial Relations, said today in announcing special overtime regulations for the holiday.

The board will allow clerks to work up to 10 hours a day on December 23 and 24 providing their total working time for the week is not more than 50 hours. However, it has been informed many of the larger stores will not stay open after the regular closing hours.

Between November 28 and December 31 employees in mail order, shipping and delivery departments may work up to 10 hours a day providing they do not work longer than 48 hours a week except in the week just before Christmas.

Temporary employees must get the same minimum rates of pay as permanent employees under the board's order.

Regina Crash Victim's Body in B.C. Train Wreck

Remains of J. Herald Found After Car Burns Beside Fraser

Locomotive Derailed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Railwaymen today recovered a steel casket containing the body of a Trans-Canada Airlines co-pilot from the embers of a fire-destroyed railway car, and sent them on to Vancouver, for burial at Cloverdale, B.C., tomorrow.

Canadian National Railway officials said the body of Jack Herald, co-pilot of the airliner that crashed near Regina early last Friday morning, was unharmed in a fire that destroyed an express car on a west-bound train that was derailed near Hope, B.C., 80 miles east of here in the Fraser River Canyon, early today.

The body was virtually cremated with that of the pilot, Don Imrie, when the plane burst into flames after its crash a few miles west of Regina.

The train, carrying the young co-pilot's body back to the British Columbia village where he was born, for burial, crashed into a Fraser Canyon rockslide about 6.30 this morning, the locomotive, baggage and express cars being derailed, but remaining upright.

The accident caused little damage to the train itself, except for the fact the express car caught fire for a reason that is unexplained. Railwaymen said they "assumed" a stove in the car tilted in the jolt that followed the crash.

PILOTS TO ATTEND

Railway officials said they expected the body would arrive in Vancouver this afternoon. Burial will be held at 10.30 tomorrow, with a group of Trans-Canada pilots and other Vancouver staff members in attendance.

The 29-year-old airman had no known relatives living in Vancouver, although he was born in nearby Cloverdale. His mother now lives in Goderich, Ont.

W. T. Moodie, general superintendent of the C.N.R. in Vancouver, went to the accident scene today, but railway officials here said they anticipated no formal investigation of the accident. A statement issued by Mr. Moodie said it was at 6.25 a.m. "train No. 1, westbound to Vancouver, struck the rockslide. No passengers or members of the crew were injured. The express car caught fire and was destroyed."

The car burned for some time after the accident and it was several hours before railwaymen could make a search for Herald's body. They had presumed it was destroyed with other contents of the car.

NEW FRENCH ENVOY GREETED BY HITLER

Fuehrer Tells Ambassador Two Nations Good Neighbors

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Hitler declared today Germany and France were "no longer divided by the serious border conflicts which burdened their past" as he received the credentials of France's new ambassador, Robert Coulondre.

The envoy, formerly French ambassador at Moscow, said the two countries often had met on the battlefield in the past, but had learned to esteem each other.

The Fuehrer, in reply, expressed the conviction Germany and France had every reason to esteem each other, to live on good neighborly terms, to complement each other in the economic and cultural domains and collaborate with each other in all sincerity.

Busy Christmas Season Foreseen

Department and Specialty Stores in U.S. May Total Over $1,200,000,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A busy Christmas shopping season, with a huge flow of dollars going into circulation over the United States trade counters was foreseen today by the National Retail Dry-goods Association.

"Both business and the public may reasonably look forward to one of the best, if not the best, gift-giving seasons in almost a decade," said Lew Hahn, general manager of the association, which represents the department store and specialty shop field.

An analysis by its accounting experts, the association reported, indicated dollar sales in department and apparel specialty stores of the nation in the four weeks preceding Christmas may approximate $1,200,000,000, about the same as in comparable 1937 period.

Actually the number of items traded across the store counters, it was pointed out, may exceed last year's Christmas trade because department store prices this year are about 7 per cent lower on the average.

Granted a favorable weather break and barring big national or international disturbances, the association said, another $40,000,000 or so might be added to the minimum estimate of $1,200,000,000 in Christmas trade for department and specialty stores.

London Weekly Calls Hitler Bully

LONDON (AP)—Big yellow and black news placards bluntly informed London today: "To —— with Hitler."

The placards were those of the popular twopenny weekly the Leader, which announced editorially it had changed its policy of favoring Anglo-German appeasement talks as a result of Germany's anti-Semitic campaign.

"The world must stand up to bully Hitler and he will go the way of all bullies," the paper said.

Ruling Soon on Gasoline Price Cut Appeal

Court Will Decide Without Delay, Says Chief Justice Martin

Arguments End

VANCOUVER (CP) — Judgment was reserved by the British Columbia Court of Appeal today on the crown's appeal from a Supreme Court injunction order restraining the Provincial Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board from putting into effect a reduction in the retail price of gasoline sold in the province.

Chief Justice Archer Martin said "we will give our judgment at a very early date."

The Chief Justice previously had commented that in his opinion there would be no irreparable damage—either to the nine gasoline distributors who were granted the injunction last month by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson or to the British Columbia public—regardless of the Appeal Court's decision on the injunction appeal.

TWO VIEWS

Senator J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., oil company counsel, argued during the hearing his clients would suffer heavy loss if the injunction were removed, but Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, representing the crown, claimed British Columbians would lose between $4,000 and $5,000 a day if the price decrease is not put in effect.

The control board order would have cut the price of gasoline sold in various parts of the province from three to six cents a gallon.

The Chief Justice said he had hoped that by consent of the opposing parties in the hearing the court would be asked to give judgment on validity of the provincial Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board Act under which the fuel board was appointed.

"Is there now any prospect of a motion of consent along that line?" the chief justice asked.

Senator Farris left for Ottawa last night, but his associate counsel, Reginald Symes, replied: "There is no possibility of that."

EARLY TRIAL

Then the chief justice commented that if the injunction were continued it would be essential that a trial on validity of the Legislation order by Mr. Justice Manson proceed without delay.

"Every possible assistance will be accorded my learned friend (the Attorney-General) in bringing about a speedy trial," Mr. Symes assured the court.

Mr. Justice W. G. McQuarrie suggested that a trust fund might be set up, into which oil companies would pay the amount of the three-cent price reduction, so the money would be available if the control board act were declared valid.

"I couldn't consent to that without consulting my clients," Mr. Symes said.

"Still, the matter might be continued," Chief Justice Martin interjected.

MACDONALD REPORT

The Chief Justice asked Mr. Wismer if he still maintained his position that the report of Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald as commissioner on the province's coal and petroleum industries should not be admitted as evidence.

"I can say nothing further at this hearing," Mr. Wismer said.

Senator Farris had contended during his argument the report dealt with matters beyond the scope of legislative action by the province, and should be introduced as evidence that the province by passing the Control Board Act had exceeded its authority and touched on regulation of trade and commerce, a field of Dominion jurisdiction.

The Attorney-General today claimed that in the provincial archives are hundreds of reports on every phase of economic activity within the province. If all these reports were brought into the open, "every piece of provincial legislation will be brought into court, on the same arguments the oil companies are using in this action."

Mr. Wismer claimed a trial could bring out no further evidence than had been presented at the appeal court hearing.

"I would like to see this matter settled by Your Lordships at this time," he said.

Hundreds Die In St. Lucia Slides

West Indies Mountainside 8 Miles Long Falls on Villages

May Be Volcanic

CASTRIES, St. Lucia, British West Indies (AP)—A series of rain-loosened avalanches today spread death and destruction in the interior of this island of the Windward group. A mountainside eight miles long last night buried two hamlets and a number of inhabitants estimated to run into the hundreds.

Rescue workers laboring all night recovered 45 dead and 60 injured, but this morning a new avalanche buried all the dead again in addition to many injured and several rescue workers.

Shortly after the first avalanche a gang of 50 laborers were swept into a river when the house in which they were sheltered slipped away along with an acre of land. A few of them were saved. Six of those recovered died during the night.

Continuous rains of the last three weeks apparently loosened tons of earth, which caused the disaster.

MANY ASSEMBLE

More than 1,000 persons waited at the entrance to Port Castries all night in a pouring rain for news of relatives feared lost in the first landslide, which occurred on the main road connecting two sides of this island of 238 square miles.

RAINS HAMPER RESCUE

Rescue work was hampered by continuing rains, but 200 volunteers armed with shovels were sent to the scene. Police and medical authorities established a temporary morgue at the roadside lined with bodies awaiting identification.

St. Lucia, with a population of 69,000, is a British colony devoted principally to sugar and banana raising. It is one of the Windward Islands which stretch between Martinique and Trinidad in the southern Caribbean.

Communications with various parts of the island have been interrupted for the last week because of floods and minor landslides. Extra gangs of workers were employed in an effort to keep lines open, but almost as soon as one break was repaired, a new avalanche disrupted service.

VOLCANIC ACTION

There were reports the landslides might be of volcanic origin since the meteorological station of neighboring Martinique issued a warning last Saturday that disturbances could be expected Monday or Tuesday.

Some witnesses declared the steep mountainsides, considered among the most beautiful of the West Indies, were not slipping, but were cracking open with loud detonations each time a new landslide started.

Such volcanic disturbances are not unknown in this region. On May 8, 1902, an eruption of Mount Pelee on Martinique destroyed the city of St. Pierre with nearly all its population of 40,000.

CHICAGO NEWSMAN EXPELLED BY ITALY

F. Smothers, Daily News, Told to Leave Before December 1

ROME (AP)—Frank Smothers, Rome correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, was ordered to leave Italy today because of the "unfriendly" tone of his dispatches.

Guido Rocco, director of the foreign press section of the ministry of popular culture, in informing Smothers of his expulsion, cited particularly his dispatch of November 16 on the Anglo-Italian accord.

The United States embassy made representations at the Italian Foreign Office in Smothers' behalf, but was informed the decision was irrevocable.

He was given until the end of the month to leave of his own volition.

New Pickets at Nanaimo Iron

Men Join Line Near Metal Destined for Japan

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—New pickets came today and relieved several Chinese and a lone white man who had maintained a night-long vigil over 500 tons of scrap iron they believed destined for use as war materials in Japan.

The picket line protesting removal of the metal to Vancouver for transhipment, given support by labor organizations and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, was continued despite a warning it might injure Japanese trade with Vancouver Island.

Meyer Frank of Vancouver, representative of the C. T. Takahashi Company of Seattle, who purchased the scrap about three weeks ago, declared the people were being misled by the picketing.

The scrap he said was destined for Japan, but was billed for the rolling mills of Kobe and not for use as war material.

He declared the picketing and prevention of shipment might cause the Takahashi Company and other Japanese firms to halt their trade in coal, logs and other products from Vancouver Island.

AT BONFIRE

The Chinese and lone white man stood through the cold night beside a huge bonfire near the scrap storage yard on the city's outskirts.

The picket line was redrawn yesterday when rumors spread Vancouver truck drivers were to be brought in to transport the scrap to a waiting scow. Nanaimo truck drivers Saturday refused to move the protested metal.

Four women paraded Nanaimo's streets yesterday with placards urging an embargo against the shipment, and George L. Strange, organizer of several week-end protest meetings, said picketing would be increased should any move be made to haul the scrap to the dock.

NEW MINIMUM WAGE IS FIXED

The board of Industrial Relations today set a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for employees engaged in cutting, gathering hauling and shipping Christmas trees in British Columbia.

The new wage is effective from November 24 to the end of the year, and is to protect employees who have had difficulty collecting their wages in previous years.

It covers several hundreds of person engaged in the rapidly-growing Christmas tree industry of shipping Douglas firs to many parts of the continent.

Big Flour Mill at Kenora Burned

Plant of Maple Leaf Milling Co. Puts Loss at $500,000

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — The plant of the Maple Leaf Milling Company here was totally destroyed by fire which raged last night and early today, causing damage of more than $500,000. Between 60 and 70 workers lost employment.

After razing the seven-story mill, the flames swept through the warehouse, containing flour and other supplies. The warehouse was still smouldering late today.

The mill had a capacity of 3,000 barrels a day, and in normal times employed 100 men.

CHINESE FORCES GAIN NEAR CANTON

Some of Troops Reported Only Three Miles From City Border

SHANGHAI (AP) — Chinese reported Tuesday the vanguard of General Chiang Kai-shek's south China army had advanced to within three miles of Canton, captured by the Japanese a month ago.

The Chinese have stated frequently during the past week that their forces were making a successful counter-attack in south China, but the Japanese have insisted there was no fighting except by guerilla bands.

The Chinese also reported successes in central China, where they said their armies had halted the Japanese drive on Changsha, Hunan province capital.

Nazis Deny Their Ambassador to Leave London

Say Reports Published In Newspapers in Britain Unfounded

Commons Criticized

By WITT HANCOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON—Reports that Germany was considering calling her ambassador home for consultations on the deterioration of relations with Great Britain since the Nazi anti-Jewish drive were published today.

A German embassy spokesman, however, declared there was no question of the ambassador, Herbert von Dirksen, leaving London now, and in Berlin officials denied the envoy would be recalled.

Resentment was apparent among Nazis, however, against a motion in the House of Commons deploring treatment of "certain racial, religious and political minorities in Europe," and a proposal that Tanganyika, former German East Africa, be one refuge for German Jews.

The House of Commons unanimously adopted the motion last night. It suggested "an immediate concerted effort amongst the nations, including the United States, to secure a common policy," and was offered by Phil J. Noel Baker, Labor Party member.

Labor members proposed a tax on German products, control of German assets in England and strong diplomatic action to demonstrate British disapproval of the Nazi anti-Jewish program.

MANY ANTI-JEW MEETINGS IN REICH

Winter Campaign Planned While British Discuss Aid for Refugees

BERLIN (AP) — The German press recorded Nazi feeling against settlement of German Jews in Tanganyika, former German East Africa, as plans developed today for continuing the anti-Jewish campaign through the winter.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels prepared to address 1,000 of his colleagues at the Kroll Opera House tonight on how to conduct an anti-Jewish drive, and the newspaper Zwoelf uhr Blatt said 1,500 meetings were planned for Berlin alone this winter.

The subjects will be, the newspaper said, "Eternal Jew disturbs Peace of the World," and "One People — One Will — One Aim." The Nazi film "Jewry Without the Mask" will be shown at all meetings.

Authoritative quarters said a strict ban on all Jewish religious services, except marriage and burial rites, was the latest restriction, one which aroused much bitterness.

The absence of official reaction to the British plan for settlement of Jews in Tanganyika, other parts of British Africa and British Guiana was seen as a studied effort, while the Nazis await the outcome of Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Paris, where tomorrow he is to discuss defence and foreign politics with Premier Daladier.

U.S. Asks Reich For Assurances

BERLIN (AP)—The United States has presented a note to Germany asking formal assurances the decree ousting Jews from business enterprises, part of the Nazi regime's sweeping anti-Jewish campaign, does not apply to Jews holding American citizenship.

The note was presented to the Foreign Office late yesterday, it was disclosed today, as Nazi plans for extending the anti-Jewish campaign throught the winter were developed.

Fall of 70 Feet Kills Young Man

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rainsford Young, 25-year-old Vancouver youth, who accidentally plunged 70 feet to his death off a building here yesterday, knew he was "done for" as he lay injured in a lane.

Young died in a hospital here less than an hour after he had fallen from the five-story La Salle Recreation Building. He misjudged a portion of the roof he was on and jumped over the edge.

Royal Blue Line President

H. L. SANGSTER

In discussing the demonstration rides in the new Blue Line bus all day yesterday, Mr. Sangster states that they received enthusiastic endorsement from the hundreds of Victorians who had a ride. "The bus," said Mr. Sangster, in answer to questions, "is definitely a permanent addition to our fleet. If the city of Victoria enfranchises our company to operate within the city limits, we will add many more of the same type and style." If the city chooses to continue street cars, the Blue Line will use this bus on their regular existing services. We have paid out over $10,000 cash for this bus," continued Mr. Sangster, "and we're going to operate it regardless. Meanwhile, it will give the people of Victoria some idea of the recent progress and advancement in bus construction." •••

Contract Changes Urged

Drew Tells Bren Inquiry Commission New Federal System Needed

OTTAWA (CP)—A complete change should be made in the system of handling such contracts as the Bren gun contract, Lieut.-Col. George Drew, K.C., argued today before Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, royal commissioner investigating the contract. The evidence conclusively showed no adequate safeguards for the public interest had been provided in the contract, Col. Drew said.

The contract calls for production of 7,000 Bren light machine guns by the John Inglis Co. Limited of Toronto on a cost plus basis. Col. Drew, whose attack on the contract in a magazine article led to the inquiry, was concluding his argument, begun yesterday.

Whether or not cost-plus contracts were good or bad in the obtaining of military supplies, the greatest of care should be exercised to see that the person or company fulfilling the contracts was suitable, he said.

"If a man or a company is notoriously extravagant," he said, "it is dangerous to employ that man or that company on a cost-plus contract. We have had enough evdence of Hahn's (Major James E. Hahn, president of the Inglis Co.) methods to show he was not a suitable person."

The bill for $20,000 presented to the government for preliminary expenses was a clear indication of what was to be expected from him.

For his first call on Major-General L. R. LaFleche, deputy minister of national defence, when he saw the Bren gun, Hahn charged $50 and expenses. For a trip to England, started on other business altogether, he had charged some $7,000.

"By this one fact Hahn has demonstrated he is not a proper party to be dealing with the government on a cost plus contract, said Col. Drew.

PLAXTON'S TESTIMONY

Evidence given by Gordon and Herbert Plaxton, Toronto lawyers and Hahn's associates in the Inglis venture, was unworthy of consideration if it was to be believed, Col. Drew declared. According to their evidence, they kept no records or documents from which they could reconstruct details of the Inglis Company transactions. There had been a bill of $10,000 for legal fees unsupported by any documents.

The Plaxton brothers had acted both as solicitors and partners of Hahn, but kept no records. Col. Drew thought that even if for no other reason, the fact their brother, Hugh Plaxton, Liberal M.P. for Toronto-Trinity, shared their offices and his possible connection might some time be questioned, the fullest records should have been kept.

LAFLECHE CRITICIZED

With respect to Gen. LaFleche Col. Drew said, "I suggest his evidence is not to be believed. It is not in accord with the evidence and documents presented here. He had some reason for acting as he has, and that reason has not been explained."

Gen. LaFleche had declared "ad nauseum" the Inglis Company was the only source of supply for the Bren gun in Canada. "It was LaFleche who made it the only source of supply," said the speaker.

Col. Drew declared Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of defence, and his deputy, throughout their dealings wth the Inglis group, were knowingly "in direct conflict with the clearly stated policy of the Prime Minister." (Mr. King had written in September, 1936, that the government should not be directly or indirectly active in obtaining munitions orders in England.)

YESTERDAY'S REMARKS

During his argument yesterday Lieut.-Col. Drew, reviewing evidence, charged Hon. Ian Mackenzie "at best showed an astonishing disregard for his duties to the public" in connection with the Bren contract.

In the House of Commons Mr. Mackenzie had said he could claim no credit for the contract, had never met Major Hahn and had taken no part in the negotiations, Col. Drew said. The evidence was to a contrary effect.

It was Mr. Mackenzie who wrote a letter of introduction for Major Hahn to Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London—an act which started the whole chain of events, said Col. Drew. He had written a letter to Prime Minister King about armament orders. He had signed the cable which established Major Hahn's status at the War Office as a representative of the Canadian government.

These documents overshadowed Mr. Mackenzie's statements in the witness box to the effect he had not been acquainted with details of the transactions, said Col. Drew.

"They show," said Col. Drew, "that there was no phase of this matter with which he was not fully acquainted and there should be a finding on this because if he was not fully acquainted his letters and cables said more than they should have."

COMPANY SHARES

In future, Col. Drew suggested, all armament contracts should be reviewed to see a clause was inserted which would prevent their shares falling into hands of persons other than British subjects. The Inglis contract contained a clause to prevent the company from selling shares, but the company had no shares to sell. All the authorized shares were in hands of the promoters and there was nothing to prevent their being sold to anyone in Germany, Japan, the United States or anywhere else.

Witnesses had said similar contracts to the present one had been made before and three other cost-plus contracts had been produced, said Col. Drew. None of the three contained a clause entitling the company to $75,000 in event of cancellation as did the Inglis contract.

Bridge Figures In House Debate

Telford Claims Overpayment on Steel; Minister Replies

A charge by Dr. J. Lyle Telford, C.C.F., Vancouver East, that there was patronage or something akin to it, and probably worse, in an overpayment of several hundred thousand dollars for structural steel on the Pattullo bridge, drew an immediate reply in the Legislature last night from Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works.

Mr. MacPherson said tenders were called for the bridge work, duly advertised and opened in public in his office. He accepted, on behalf of the government, the lowest tender, and all payments in connection with the Pattullo bridge had been made in terms of this tender.

"That does not satisfy me a bit, not by any stretch of imagination," replied Dr. Telford. "I still say there was a payment of several hundred thousand dollars above what the work could have been done for."

"Come down to my office and inspect the contract for yourself," said Mr. MacPherson.

"I want you to let an engineer I'll name go over the whole file about the bridge," Dr. Telford said.

Dr. Telford opened his charge with the announcement that if the government would not supply him with the complete correspondence, files, pay sheets and every other bit of records on the bridge job he was "at least going to take the lid off."

Dr. Telford said actually there were 5,300 tons of structural steel used on the bridge, which meant some $300,000 had "gone with the wind."

Later Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal, Yale, questioned him as to exactly what he meant in his figures on the bridge.

"I mean there was an overpayment of several hundred thousand dollars on the structural steel," he said.

Dealing with gasoline prices, Dr. Telford repeated his allegation that the government had been offered cheap gasoline and not, he said, by an irresponsible person as the Premier had suggested.

He quoted from the Citizens' Research Institute year book showing British Columbia was the most heavily taxed province in Canada per capita. The provincial tax load here was $37.20 on every man, woman and child. In Ontario it was $22. Approximately 52 per cent of the gross primary production was taken by the various governments in taxes, he said.

"The government will have to go into business sooner or later because it is taxing private business out of existence," he declared.

Dr. Telford renewed his charge of last year that government had been offered timbers for a P.G.E. Railway bridge at $11.50 per thousand, but had let a contract out which allowed $18 per thousand. The contractor then turned around and bought the timbers for $11.50, he said.

Leader Questions Trade Treaties

British Market Best for B.C., Says Maitland

"I fail to see why Okanagan Valley and the timber areas of British Columbia should be sacrificed upon the altar of a theory that unless the United States gets some trade advantage she will not stand by democracy," declared R. L. Maitland, K.C., Conservative leader, discussing the new Canadian-Anglo-United States trade agreements while speaking in the budget debate in the Legislature yesterday.

Criticizing the government for not having made stronger representations to protect the British market for B.C. lumber and apples, Mr. Maitland said if Americans believed in democracy the U.S. would stand by Britain on the principle without the need of a trade agreement unfair to B.C.

VITAL TO OKANAGAN

The Empire agreements, he said, spelled life or death to the Okanagan.

Stating he would prefer a stable British market than an uncertain U.S. market, he declared there was a good chance Republicans would win the next election in the U.S. and were certain to again erect tariff barriers against Canadian goods.

Mr. Maitland attempted to discuss Japanese penetration of the province and the "gentlemen's agreement" about Japanese immigration but was ruled out of order because a resolution on the question is to come before the House.

He took it up from the standpoint of general immigration, claiming last year 2,264 people of British nationality and 8,000 of others came into Canada. National policies should be directed toward evening up this balance, he maintained.

"I agree this is a country that can absorb many nationalities," he said, "but they should be such as agree with our ideals of government, and would maintain our constitution.

"They must be the type that will join with us in building up this country on those solid traditions and principles which have worked into the development of countries under British rule."

ALASKA HIGHWAY

Mr. Maitland warned the government to go carefully on the Alaska Highway project and its Peace River oil drilling scheme. These had the earmarks, he said, of another spending campaign that would cost much more than appeared now, and run the province into millions, like the University Endowment area and the Sumas and Oliver irrigation schemes.

"There may be terms on which the Alaska Highway is acceptable to people of B.C.," he said. "If such terms can be found to make the road possible without complications and without the road being at the expense of our other necessary highways, there would be little opposition to the proposal."

Mr. Maitland charged the finance minister, in his good budget statement, was "wearing plumes borrowed from the municipalities, borrowed from the Dominion, from the sinking fund shortage and from failure to keep the promise to abolish the 1 per cent wage tax."

The Conservative leader charged the government with wrong tactics in allowing British Columbia's "better terms" claim to be "buried" in the general submissions to the Rowell Commission.

"It should have stood alone and when it lost its identity in the quagmire of requests made from the Atlantic to the Pacific the case as a case was damaged beyond all repair," he asserted.

He said Hon. John Hart had underestimated his revenues steadily and accused him of lack of planning in his expenditure, as vote after vote exceeded the appropriations.

He insisted the government should fit its spending — all its spending, to the amount of revenue taken in.

"GLITTERING GENERALITIES"

Replying sharply to the Premier's criticism that his previous speech had been full of "glittering generalities," the Conservative leader again detailed some of his party's proposals, including substitution of work for the dole, proper disclosures of public expenditure, help for farmers, highway commission, construction of the northern and souther.. transprovincial highways and protection of people in matters of unfair legislation.

He taxed the public works department for having called selected tenders on three road jobs, reading a letter from Baines and Horie, contractors, charging they had been denied the right to tender on several jobs.

ROWELL PROBE FEE QUESTIONED

"The budget will never be balanced as long as we don't know what Senator Farris is going to get for his appearance before the Rowell Commission," Dr. J. Lyle Telford, C.C.F., Vancouver East, declared in the Legislature yesterday.

"The senator himself doesn't know yet," said Premier Pattullo.

"You'll pay him what he tells you to," said Dr. Telford.

"No, not necessarily," returned the Premier.

Much Support in U.S. For Great Britain

NEW YORK (CP) — Great Britain is still the "best liked" European country by United States voters, but during the last year and a half her popularity has waned by 7 per cent, according to a country-wide survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

Legislature in Night Session

House Hears Crone, Uphill, Bull, Paton and Putnam in Debate

As the budget debate neared its end the Legislature pushed ahead into evening sittings last night with four back benchers touching a variety of subjects from world peace down to the ever-recurring problem of municipal trouble. They spoke until 11.25 p.m.

"While this government hasn't actually restored grants to municipalities, it has helped them out in social work more than the grants ever amounted to," said Alderman Fred Crone, Liberal, Vancouver Centre.

"But we do want the government to participate far more in education and hospitalization," he said. "If the government will do that the municipalities will take care of general expenses."

He said 60 per cent of the patients in the Vancouver General Hospital were treated free of charge.

"Vancouver is today really running a provincial charitable hospital and the load is overwhelming," he said. "We can't, in the name of humanity, reduce those hospital expenses, unless we're going to turn patients away from the doors. Of all patients, 28 per cent are from cities outside Vancouver."

The Dominion Housing Act, Mr. Crone said, was all very good in its way, but young people as a result wanted to build their own homes and the man with an older house to rent or sell went a-begging.

He praised Hon. John Hart for his budget.

"I think he handled a difficult subject in a masterly manner," he said. "He demonstrated he was a financier and one the province should be very proud to have in that position."

FRANK PUTNAM

"I think it is a blot on the Canadian people that they haven't the courage and the initiative to see [illegible] unfair legislation," said Frank Putnam, Liberal, Nelson-Creston, speaking in the Legislature yesterday in the budget debate.

He advocated formation of a research council to look into the monetary policy of Canada. He pointed out what Germany and Japan were doing with very little money.

He deplored the waste of young men through unemployment.

"We haven't tackled the problem seriously enough," he said "We must get down to brass tacks in the right way. We will have to go a little deeper; we will have to look a little farther. We are losing a whole generation of young men. We lost one in the Great War and now we are losing another. We're really not giving those young men what they should have. I would recommend that members of both cabinets (provinical and Dominion) get out into the country and see conditions there. But I know, perhaps, if I had a nice office to sit in, I'd forget the people in the country, too.

"It really hurts when you have fine young fellows coming to your door for work and food. It's criminal to allow it; they're looking for work and they're anxious to find it. Last summer there were dozens at my door."

Mr. Putnam briefly told the House of his constituency, which had mining and lumbering and scenery. The city of Nelson, he said, was in a very prosperous condition, it owned its own public utilities, its bonds were selling as favorably as government bonds, and it had a fine civic building that was the envy and admiration of other municipalities.

TOM UPHILL

Thomas Uphill, Labor, Fernie, told the House some people called him the misrepresentative of Fernie. He said his constituency was near the "international boundary," where police kept guard night and day to keep the social crediters from coming over into British Columbia. Fernie, he said, had the greatest number of unemployed in British Columbia, and "they're the longest unemployed, too."

He asked the Minister of Mines to do something for the boys who were out of work in his district.

He thought the government should sell gas masks at $2 apiece, which he said would give the Finance Minister a surplus.

"None of us differs in our virtues, it is only in our vices that we differ," he fold the laughing House.

C. R. BULL

Capt. C. R. Bull, Liberal, South Okanagan, advocated monetary reform on a national basis as a means of providing employment for all and removing economic fear—a duty he saw as paramount.

"The present economy has failed to move us from our tragic position. Some change in the monetary system is absolutely necessary to put our house in order," he said, adding that Roosevelt's use of national credit in the United States was one way.

He had high praise for the government's physical and recreational education classes, defended the Chamberlain government's part in the peace of Munich from the attack last week by Colin Cameron, C.C.F., Comox, defended the Canadian government's refusal to ban nickel exports to Japan and defended his own stand in stating the Okanagan was willing to take some sacrifice in the new trade agreement if it helped the peace of the world.

J. A. PATON

J. A. Paton, Conservative, Vancouver-Point Grey, said one of the greatest problems of the day was the drift from the farm to the cities. He said it was necessary to improve conditions in order to make men stay on the land. He spoke in favor of immigration from Great Britain and northern European countries. Peoples from central Europe should be selected.

Impounded Car Given To Seattle Police

SEATTLE (AP)—The police department yesterday received unsolicited title to a big 1927 sedan which was impounded several days ago after apparently being abandoned on a north end street.

In response to a letter from the department, the owner, L. M. Russell, who lives north of the city, wrote:

"Breakdown and lack of funds was the cause of my leaving my car. As you have taken away my transportation, and impounding charges are probably more than a wrecking joint would allow me, am enclosing certificate of title so you won't have to wait for disposal. My 18-miles-a-day walk is probably good for me anyway. (Signed) L. M. Russell."

Rome Paper Says Roosevelt Jewish

ROME (CP-Havas)—The newspaper Tribuna charged last night President Roosevelt was of Jewish origin, and his humanitarian[illegible] to frighten the Latin-American countries into buying United States munitions.

The Fascist press scoffed at the democracies for their expressed indignation at Germany's persecution of the Jews.

Three of the large transcontinental airlines have agreed to reduce the cruising speed of their transport planes to an even greater extent than was called for under the schedules in effect during the bad weather period of 1937-1938.

New Moves for Canadian Unity

John M. Imrie Tells Calgary Club Sense of Responsibility Needed

CALGARY (CP) — Canadian unity is possible provided "we are willing to pay the price of unity," John M. Imrie, managing director of the Edmonton Journal, told members of a service club here today.

He declared there must be a new sense of personal and individual responsibility for the attainment of unity and for the solution of problems related directly or indirectly to such attainment.

"Canada as a nation, the Dominion as such," said Mr. Imrie, "must be made to mean more in the intimate lives of our people if the handicap of our far-flung population, our three great physical barriers and the economic disabilities which they entail are to be overcome—if there is to be brought about and maintained a strong and vibrant national spirit."

He urged a greater personal and individual study of interprovincial relations.

"It is all too much the habit in Alberta," added Mr. Imrie, "to assume that our troubles are due to outside causes, to overlook our own mistakes of the past and their penalties even of today. Unquestionably certain national policies have added greatly to the problems of Alberta. But these should not blind our sight to a host of public and private mistakes right here in Alberta."

Formation in Canada of a body similar in principle to the Australian Grants Commission was advocated by Mr. Imrie. It would be for the purpose of analyzing fairly, dispassionately and nonpolitically, the incidence of national policies on the various provinces and of other factors entering into the question and of recommending the amounts of the subsidies to be paid to individual provinces from time to time.

2,000 U.S. Fighters Killed in Spain's War

BARCELONA (AP)—Reliable sources estimated today that 2,000 United States citizens had been killed fighting for the government in the Spanish civil war. The unofficial figure was compiled from estimates by several authorities. Estimates of the number of Americans who entered government Spain from about December, 1936, until last spring varied from 3,000 to 6,500.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg electors go to the polls Friday to select a mayor, 10 aldermen and six school trustees.

Mayor John Queen is seeking his fourth term and for the first time a mayor will be elected for a two-year term provided by a city charter amendment passed at the last session of the Manitoba Legislature. Previously the term was one year.

Queen is opposed by Alderman E. D. Honeyman, and Travers Sweatman.

Lottery Raids

CALGARY (CP)—Offices of the Alberta-Saskatchewan Railway Mutual Benefits Association were raided by police on warrants charging the association with conducting a lottery. Police said summonses will be issued for four men, operators of the association.

It was reported the association distributed monthly to ticket holders between $10,000 and $12,000 in prizes and benefits in the form of payments for sickness.

Seek Tax Removal

EDMONTON (CP) — Reduction or total elimination of the $96,000-a-year social service tax Edmonton now pays to the Alberta government was set by the city council as an important goal for 1939 when the mayor and aldermen held a special meeting yesterday.

Snowbird May Go

CALGARY (CP) — Licensed coal dealers in Calgary have had stiff competition from "snowbirds" and "fuel bootleggers" but the menace may soon disappear.

Licensed dealers recommended to city authorities it be made compulsory for all dealers to have adequate yard facilities and equipment, a reserve stock of at least 100 tons of coal on hand all the time and a minimum fine of $20 for infractions of the regulations governing the sale of fuel in Calgary.

A "snowbird" is a dealer who only operates during the winter months while the "bootlegger" is the man who hauls coal direct from the mine for sale to house-holders.

Pattullo Bridge Revenue $275,000

Revenue from tolls on the Pattullo Bridge has totaled $275,000 odd in the first year of operation.

Premier Pattullo gave this information to the Legislature yesterday when Dr. J. Lyle Telford, C.C.F., Vancouver East, renewed his charge the bridge was not paying its way.

Dr. Telford said even if the revenue was this high, the structure was failing by more than $100,000 to pay all operating costs and debt charges.

On the Air Map

THAT WAS FIRST CLASS AND HIGHLY-encouraging news which Mr. R. W. Mayhew, M.P., was able to convey to the people of Greater Victoria yesterday when he announced that the Dominion Government airfield at Sidney—now under construction by the Department of National Defence—would be used as the western terminus of the Trans-Canada Airlines. In his letter to Mr. Mayhew, Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, also for the first time definitely assured this community that when it feels disposed to establish an airfield of its own, the federal treasury will furnish one-third of the necessary money. Thus, through the efforts of Mr. Mayhew, is Victoria's place on the airways at last recognized by Ottawa and established in fact.

For more than 10 years we have been urging in these columns that Victoria was not only the logical terminus for any projected trans-Canada system of aerial transportation, but the equally logical point of call for flying ships in international service. Our proximity to the continental slope, to the islands of the Pacific, and to the Orient is Nature's contribution to all those arguments which, of course, are more potent now than they were 10 years ago. Freedom from meteorological vagaries, which this area enjoys, is a compelling consideration, for it is not necessary to emphasize the fact that fog still is the bane of the airman's existence. And it is worth while to assume that those stalwarts who pilot the ships of the Trans-Canada Airlines will be gratified to know they are really engaged in a completely Canadian transcontinental service when facilities at Victoria enable them to drop down here. As is sometimes the case, a halt on the Vancouver mainland airport is made dangerous by the presence of opaque fogbanks, often necessitating a right-about-turn to some clearer point east.

It is fitting that much credit should be paid to the practical interest Mr. Mayhew has shown in this matter of an airport. When he appeared before the electors of this community asking for their support at the polls—the first anniversary of his election is fast approaching—he made no elaborate or fulsome promises. After his victory he immediately engaged himself to the tasks he felt it necessary that he should tackle. And it can be said without hesitation, if we may use the colloquialism, that his batting average to date is excellent.

Bombs From the Sky

SUPPOSING ONE BOMB IN A THOUsand dropped from the skies started a fire—what of it? Squadron Leader Ira Jones, D.S.O., of the Royal Air Force, has just published a book which answers the question from one point of view. In "An Air Fighter's Scrapbook" he compares the air arm of today with that of 1914-18, showing the strides that have been made, telling us that a load of half a ton of bombs can be carried in one machine against about 10 pounds in 1915, and how 400 miles an hour is now a commonplace achievement.

The author asks his readers to bear in mind that with 1,000 bombers carrying at least 400,000 thermite incendiary bombs, which burn through steel, there is little hope for air-raid precautions having much effect on the issue. In other words, supposing only one bomb in a thousand starts a fire, even then there would be 400 fires. Cities would soon be in a state of chaos, for fires cause fear in the stoutest hearts—particularly at night.

During the Great War, when machines were capable of speeds of 100 miles per hour, only 5 per cent of the fighter pilots in France brought down five or more machines. So asks the author: "What is the percentage, therefore, likely to be when the craft travels at more than half the speed of sound? All that pilots in machines of this type will be able to do is dive down or zoom up at invaders at a speed which will make marksmanship a matter of luck or guesswork. The speed of the airplane is now getting faster than the brain of the pilot, and supreme physical fitness of the pilot is becoming an important essential to efficiency."

Dizzy heights and dizzy speeds baffle the average layman. They make him wonder whether it is, after all, possible for man's ingenuity to devise any really effective method of protection against air raids as carried out to the extent at which Squadron Leader Jones hints. The thought of incendiary bombs burning through steel sends more than a shiver down the ordinary back. All mankind can hope for now, of course, is that one of these days the so-called statesmen of the world will try to think out some simple manner of averting international behavior which causes war.

U.S. Shipping Activity

ONE OF THE RESULTS OF THE REport on the shipping business of the United States—which Mr. J. P. Kennedy, now ambassador to Great Britain, prepared before he went to London several months ago—is a large increase in the subsidies for shipbuilding which the government at Washington has sanctioned. How this system of assistance is operating is reflected in shipyard activity in various parts of the republic. Business volume in several plants is twice what it was 12 months ago.

The United States Maritime Commission, incidentally, considers that 500 ships will have to be built during the next 10 years at a cost of $1,250,000,000. Subsidies during the current year will amount to about $15,000,000. This is more than double the estimate for similar subsidies by Great Britain. It is about equal to the Italian subsidies, and more than half those given by France.

The six principal maritime countries are Great Britain, Japan, Germany, United States, Italy and France. In the amount of merchant tonnage in commission, the United States ranks fourth, and in the number of ships ranks fifth. The Washington government intends to improve this position, and has acquired extensive powers to build ships—if the subsidy methods now being tried fail to achieve the desired end.

Bennett Of Surrey

IF RT. HON. R. B. BENNETT IS REALLY determined to spend the rest of his days in England—that seems to be his decision—he has shown excellent taste in selecting the county of Surrey for his Old World domicile. Surrounded by Buckinghamshire, Middlesex, Kent, and Hampshire, its pastoral scenes and romantic spots are little more than a brief automobile drive from London's cosmopolitan West End or the morning "fever" of "the City" and its financial doings.

Canada's former Prime Minister will be able to wander down one of the most interesting corridors of Britain's early history, recall the days when the Danish hordes were constantly overrunning Surrey 11 centuries ago, and until peace was established by the accession of Canute. Leith Hill—hard by Ockley where the Danes were humbled in a great national victory in 857—a magnet for those who love the Surrey landscape and the glimpse this eminence gives of several surrounding counties, is not far from the residence which Mr. Bennett has acquired.

Still stand in the county many of the seats established in the days of Henry the VIII. Sutton Place, possessed of curious mouldings and ornaments in terra cotta, is one of the architectural "sights." At the height of his publishing career Lord Northcliffe purchased this estate, stocked it with new treasures, and modernized it to meet the requirements of changed times. A former owner and editor of the Spectator, the late John St. Loe Strachey, owned Newlands Corner, and to his mansion drew prominent representatives from the higher strata of the literary, political, and artistic realm.

Apart from the reflected glory of its ancient history, the lavish bequests of a bounteous Nature, its associations with the great figures in the cultural sciences, Surrey is the dream county of the grubbing worker of the counting house, the Alpha and Omega of the aspirant to a superannuated state. It is the Surrey of the Devil's Punchbowl, the North Downs, and the Hog's Back. So even if Mr. Bennett should eventually find his way into the cloistered opulence of the House of Lords, we venture to suggest that he of the foothills of the Rockies will enjoy the best of his remaining days in pleasant contemplation of the rolling meadows of his adopted county. Every Canadian will wish him contentment in his new surroundings.

Dr. Manion and Tourists

SO GREAT ARE THE POTENTIALITIES of the tourist trade of this country that Canada's public men, publicists, cabinet ministers and economists are concentrating increasingly intensified attention on it. At the annual dinner in Ottawa last night of the Canadian Association of Travel and Publicity Bureaus, for example, Hon. R. J. Manion, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the House of Commons, urged more dustproof roads and better education of hotel keepers to improve tourist trade. He advanced another argument: he reminded his audience that Canada is paying out approximately $1,000,000 a day on the various services of debt charges, and suggested that one way this could be worked off was by the more intensive development of the tourist trade in all its ramified branches. Every dollar received in Canada from a tourist, said the National Conservative leader, was a dollar Canada need not pay out in interest.

As mentioned in these columns recently, the government of Eire—formerly the Irish Free State—is appropriating $2,500,000 for a "new drive for tourists" and $200,000 annually as a grant-in-aid. Included in its national plan is an investigation into a scheme for the provision of more varied amusements for tourists, coupled with better hotel provision in those beauty spots which naturally constitute the principle attraction for the holiday maker. Dr. Manion, of course, casts no reflection on the hotelkeepers and innkeepers of any part of Canada. But it is good business to make the tourist thoroughly comfortable and send him away with the resolve to come again. This province has everything the visitor could desire. The more dollars we can attract the more business there will be for all concerned. And, let it be remembered by our citizens generally, the tourist trade is one which depends to no small extent upon the hearty co-operation of the general public.

PRODIGIOUS DAY

IN QUANTITY AND VOLUME, if not in quality and wit, Monday's proceedings in this Legislature were prodigious. There were eight speakers, over seven hours of speaking. There were protests and passion from Mr. Maitland. There were grave, though obscure charges from Dr. Telford. There were denials from the government. There were ideas by the carload from the back benches. There was, at the end of it, a late night and utter exhaustion for everyone.

This, of course, is part of the usual process of putting on the pressure and essential if the budget debate is ever to be finished. From now on this House will be going hell-bent towards Christmas.

The feature of yesterday was scheduled to be Mr. Maitland's speech, but Dr. Telford made a brave attempt to steal the picture—a continuance of the old fight between Conservatives and Socialists to dominate the opposition.

Dr. Telford's charge, recorded in detail elsewhere, had evidently been designed for a bombshell but it failed completely to explode, so far as the House was concerned. It related to alleged "patronage or worse" on the Pattullo Bridge, but it was so enmeshed in verbiage and irrelevance that the government didn't realize what it meant until it went home to dinner and had time to think. In the evening it made a brief reply which left the whole issue about as foggy as ever.

TOO MUCH TRIMMING

DR. TELFORD, AS USUAL, treated the House to an encyclopedia of human knowledge before getting down to his charge. His method is to gallop like a western bad man down the main street, shooting up the town, firing in all directions and hoping one or two of the bullets will hit something. But all in the most genial fashion, a smile on his face, his white locks dangling over his eyes, his voice rising and falling in a strange soporific cadence.

He has such an appetite for information, for pamphlets, reports, blue books, statistics, that often you cannot get his points for the huge accumulation of factual matter around them. It was so when he hurled the bridge charges. He dared the government to investigate, to put his head on the block, to deny, to explain. But the government, having no idea what he was really talking about, sat back and grinned.

It was an amazing spectacle and seemed to amaze even the good Doctor. Nobody seemed to care about his bombshell, which had been so wrapped up in the cottonwool of insinuation and innuendo that it probably couldn't explode. It would have been far better for all concerned if the Doctor had said just what he meant, accused the government of something definite and taken responsibility for it. But as it was he kept talking about the terrible things he was going to say and when they came they were a complete anticlimax, however true or untrue they may have been.

OLD MAITLAND IS DEAD

MR. MAITLAND got the day off to a rousing start with one of the best speeches he has ever delivered under this roof—pitched low at first, with an effective intimacy as a counsel uses to a jury, then rising quickly to a crescendo of protest and a moving declaration of faith.

Such a speech, in fact, as is calculated to bury forever the old, carefree, jesting, boyish Maitland of the Tolmie days, and to build up the new, sober, statesmanlike Maitland of 1938. A speech designed, as well, to show the country that the C.C.F. is not the "actual opposition" as it boasts, and to show the Conservative Party that in Kamloops recently it made no mistake.

With hands clasped in front, head down, face set hard, Mr. Maitland achieves a remarkable effect of earnestness, of suppressed passion, of high rectitude. And then, seasoned counsel that he is, he can change his tempo, rouse up his jury with a sudden outburst of sound and emotion until he finishes, hair flying, fist pounding, voice hoarse, eyes flashing fire.

This is the kind of thing that breaks the dull monotony of back-bench oratory, that gets the House going and makes politics interesting once more. Before he has got far you can feel the new atmosphere that scientists might call mob psychology—an almost tangible feeling of excitement and suspense. The members are sitting up, listening to every word. The Premier is sitting back and alternately smiling and frowning. The Conservatives are pounding their desks in loyal ecstasy.

Mr. Putnam, who followed, is a tall, rangy farmer, a living British Columbia success story, the ideal type of pioneer, the kind of man who has built this country. He doesn't try to orate or to shine. But he sees, despite his own success, that things are not right, that drastic changes in our system must come.

Mr. Crone, one of the soundest men in his party, was a quiet relief from Dr. Telford's marathon, which wasn't finished at dinner time and stretched well into the evening. As an experienced municipal administrator, he didn't let his Liberalism stop him from telling the government bluntly it must rescue the municipal land owner right away.

Tom Uphill, in a half-hour of dreary improvisation, said Dr. Telford had stolen most of his speech and this seemed possible since Mr. Uphill obviously hadn't any. At his laborious clowning, the House tried to laugh, loyal to an old tradition. His advocacy of gas masks for members seemed sound, after you had listened to him.

Capt. Bull, who preaches his ideals even at the expense of repetition, reiterated his demand for a new system of credit and Mr. Paton wound up a long, hard day with an attack on the alleged system of giving jobs on the defensive works of Canada only to Liberals with red tickets.

BUS ROUTES AND LAND VALUES

To the Editor:—I have noted with interest the urgent appeal of the Chamber of Commerce and the Real Estate Board to the Council to retain present street car routes so that real estate values and rentals may not be detrimentally affected. These values and rentals are, of course, very largely due to site advantages.

It is encouraging to see that these important bodies realize that these values are due very largely not to the exertions of the owner of the land, as such, but to the presence of the community and its functions and activities.

Now that these bodies have seen the light we may look for their co-operation with the efforts of those of us who consider that these values due to the presence of the community should be taken through taxation for the community to meet the cost of the functions and activities of the community.

F. W. DAVEY.
126 South Turner Street.

OPPOSES A PLEBISCITE

To the Editor:—As a considerable taxpayer I submit a strong protest against the submission of a plebiscite choice between bus or street car transportation.

The City Council has had this matter in hand nigh on two years, and the advice of an outside expert at considerable expense is all this time, advice and expense to be laid aside and the buck passed to "public opinion"?

If the problem was simply one of sentiment or convenience, of whether the majority of the public preferred to ride in buses or street cars, a plebiscite would be O.K., but a far more weighty decision is involved as to which service is in the best interest of the co-ordination of transportation for Greater Victoria, economy involved in the making and maintenance of roadbeds, etc., the safety, convenience and economy of the traveling public, and of the vehicular and pedestrian traffic and the effect on realty values and taxation, all of which are questions for expert opinion.

Such a plebiscite would be both valueless and dangerous, and to be fair would bar those interested in either street car or other company interests from voting, an impossible situation at best.

Two years is surely sufficient, with expert advice, for the council to decide what transportation system is in the best interests of Greater Victoria. When tenders are received and the council has made its choice, a submission to a vote of the ratepayers for approval is in order.

The present impasse is due to the lack of co-ordination of the whole area as the first move in the right direction. In other words, properly prepare the soil before planting your potatoes.

This is but another proof of the differences between the procrastination of village politics and the direct action of a city manager system.

Query: If the decision on an up-to-date traffic system takes three years, how long will it take for Victoria to rise above selling reverted lots for one-third of their assessed value?

A. J. MORLEY.
1246 Montrose Ave.

ALL INTERESTED

To the Editor:—Consideration must be given to the adoption of a transportation system, under a commission, including the three municipalities and others appointed to take over the system. I feel if it is properly and honestly managed it would be profitable and help the taxpayers of all the municipalities and city.

Transportation affects the whole of Greater Victoria, and should only be dealt jointly with these bodies and the larger bodies such as the Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate Board and others.

BUSES—DEMONSTRATION

To the Editor:—There is some talk of voting on "Buses vs. Street Cars."

There are many citizens who never have the occasion to use motor buses, and before being asked to vote should be allowed to acquaint themselves with this type of transportation.

I myself am in favor of buses as believe they are more up-to-date, quieter and more able to serve a greater area and more people in a shorter time.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE . . .

To the Editor:—In 1899 and in 1914 Socialists were called "cads" for criticising a war started or prolonged in the cause of capitalism. Now, in 1938, they are dubbed "Devils" for being willing to risk "starting something" in the cause of Humanity.

With a perfectly good "world war" being waged in Spain, in China and lately in Africa, and with all the symptoms of one for the Arabs in Palestine and for the Jews in Germany, it is difficult to understand—or is it?—why the fear of a few bombs nearer home should suddenly send shudders of pacifism down the spines of munition exporters. Apparently it's a "crisis" at home; but a "business recovery" abroad!

Approve Vote On Arena Plan

Council Endorses Scheme for Referendum On Sports Forum Dec. 8

Property owners of Victoria will voice their wishes regarding construction of a sports arena and civic auditorium combined as a project under the federal government's 2 per cent self-liquidating loan scheme in a referendum on December 8.

Approximately $150,000 would be borrowed for the scheme and paid back in 20 years at $9,136.68 a year in semi-annual installments, if the proposal were supported.

At its meeting yesterday afternoon the City Council decided to submit the proposal to the property owners, following presentation of a report on a recent interview with provincial government officials. The report indicated the government would approve the borrowing and recommend the loan if the city submitted its plans and specifications to officials at the Parliament Buildings and provided proof the project would be self-liquidating.

Feasibility of the issue was questioned by Alderman S. H. Okell, who asked if an ice arena could be converted into an indoor stadium for other games.

Alderman Archie Wills stated such conversions would be possible. A floor could be laid down for basketball and the ice enclosure would be large enough for box lacrosse, he said.

Alderman Williams said those items would be threshed out by city and government architects and engineers if the voters supported the scheme.

Alderman W. H. Davies suggested stores be laid out on the ground floor to provide a continuous source of income. Sports activities alone would not be sufficient to make the project self-liquidating.

Alderman Alex Peden voiced support of the plan, noting the need for a forum here. The people, he said, would be the ones to decide. If the arena was not entirely self-supporting he, personally, would be prepared to pay his share of extra taxes that would be required.

FULFORD—A public meeting will be held this evening at Fulford for the purpose of forming a Liberal association for South Salt Spring Island. Alan Chambers will be the guest speaker.

City Council Topics

Letters from Port Alberni, supporting the city's move for the formation of a Vancouver Island Municipalities Association, and from Duncan voicing opposition to the plan, were referred by the City Council yesterday to the legislative committee. Upon Alderman Ed. Williams' explanation that Duncan understood the move was one to surplant the Union of British Columbia Municipalities and not to provide an auxiliary group as intended, the city clerk was instructed to send out explanatory letters to all municipalities contacted. A motion to that effect was put by Alderman John A. Worthington, sponsor of the Island Municipalities Association move.

To permit the installation of two gasoline pumps in Spencer's parking lot, requested by the Home Oil Distributors Ltd., the council instructed the city solicitor to prepare the by-law necessary for the rezoning of the block on View Street, between Douglas and Blanshard.

A letter jointly signed by A. V. Danby, J. A. Harrison and H. G. Allen, asking the council if it had given attention to a previous request for consideration of their salaries, was referred to the special wage committee.

On the recommendation of G. M. Irwin, city engineer, the council authorized replacement of pipe on Sooke Road at a cost of $3,025. Mr. Irwin stated the government was remaking the road and would dig the ditch for the pipe, which needed renewal.

Removal of alternate trees on Wellington Avenue, between Dallas Road and Faithful Street, was authorized with Alderman Worthington voicing strenuous opposition to the action. The parks committee, which recommended the work, was also supported in a suggestion to remove a poplar from in front of 930 Collinson Street. The committee reported it could not take over care of the Yates Street school garden on the boulevard adjacent to Central Junior High School, and reported tenders were being called for an automatic stoker for Beacon Hill nursery.

A half lot on the north side of Fort Street, between Blanshard and Quadra, was sold for $1,750 cash on the recommendation of the lands committee, which was also supported in its lease agreement covering the Variety Theatre. The theatre will be rented at $75 a month to a beverage company, which will have an option to purchase within the year for $8,000. In the event of purchase rent money in excess of tax charges will be applied to the credit of the purchasers. The committee further reported it could find no legal objection to the construction of a Sunday school hall planned at the corner of Niagara and Medina Streets. Plans call for a $6,000 brick building. Sale of a lot on the south side of Despard Avenue, between Richmond and St. Charles, for $650 cash was approved, and authorization was given for rezoning the west side of Government, between Fisgard and Cormorant Streets.

Provided money is available from the street improvement vote, $275 will be spent rounding corners at Rockland Avenue and Vancouver Street and $273 for the corners of Begbie Street and Belmont Avenue. Such action was recommended by the public works committee, which won support for a move to spend $309 on the improvement of the city dog pound.

Thanks of the City Council were formally extended to R. W. Meyhew, federal member for Victoria, for his work in securing the consent of Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, for the use by Trans-Canada Airlines of the Sidney military airbase as its western terminal. Announcement of the new development in Victoria's airport problem was made by Alderman Archie Wills, airport committee chairman. Appreciation was also voiced for Mr. Mayhew's assistance in the fishing boat float project and other matters in which he has aided the city.

Alderman W. H. Davies' suggestion regarding appointment of a special official to make personal contact with tax delinquents, in an effort to have them meet their obligations in monthly installments, was referred to the finance committee and the assessor-collector for study.

M. F. Hunter was thanked for the use of his copyrighted ballot at the forthcoming civic elections.

The council approved Alderman W. H. Davies' suggestion to present an address of loyalty to [illegible] next year. The presentation would be made in the City Hall following a procession from the C.P.R. wharf through downtown streets. Alderman Davies was also supported in a request for a cable to be dispatched to the British Air Marshall, inviting him to send planes to Canada on a distance flight which would bring them to Victoria at the time the King and Queen arrived.

Alderman James Adam was welcomed back to the council after a lengthy illness at yesterday's meeting, and a letter was ordered forwarded to Dr. Richard Felton wishing him a speedy recovery from a recent operation.

Erection of 15 new lights at a total cost of $225 and with a maintenace cost of $12 a year each, was authorized on the recommendation of the electric lights committee.

Arrangements for water connections, sought by Thomas Stonier, were left in the hands of the city engineer.

The Vancouver Island Inboard Association's request for permission to use Elk Lake for racing purposes was declined and a petition protesting against motorboat racing in the lake was received and filed.

A letter from the Union of British Columbia Municipalities regarding new government arrangements for meeting costs of unemployables was referred to the relief committee for its consideration.

The council accepted the invitation of the James Bay Parent-Teachers' Association to attend that organization's bazaar on Friday.

Letters from A. J. Morley, dealing with transportation, and John Dean, covering crude oil costs, were referred to the franchise committee.

A request from the City School Board for the repainting of pedestrian traffic lanes adjacent to schools was referred to the public works committee.

J. A. Coverdale's plea for time to improve an old structure at the foot of Washington Avenue was referred to the health committee.

With two months to go, the city's expenditures for 1938 remained well within the annual estimate, according to a statement of revenue and expenditure presented to the City Council late yesterday by Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan. Estimated expenditure for 1938 was set at $1,388,402.08. At the end of October, $1,014,985.99 had been spent. Four votes only were overspent. They included insurance, on which $7,434.68 had been paid against an estimate of $6,150; miscellaneous expenses, which amounted to $4,147.61 against the $4,000 estimate; unemployment relief, which stood at $95,178 against the estimate of $95,000, and costs of a pole survey which amounted to $680 and for which no vote was made. Revenue from sources other than taxation was well ahead of collections for the similar months in 1937, the figures up to October 31 being $530,471.34 against last year's 10 months' total of $510,341.48.

Debate Library Land Request

Move to Buy Strip North Of Existing Building Left in Abeyance

The City Council last night left in abeyance a request from the library board for permission to purchase a strip of property on the north boundary of the library grounds for $2,000. After lengthy debate, during which a motion [illegible] was defeated on a six-four vote, the council tabled the question for later consideration.

Opposition to the finance committee's motion to disallow the purchase came immediately from Alderman Ed. Williams, who moved an amendment to give the library board permission to buy the parcel.

Mayor McGavin called for a vote on the original motion.

Alderman Morgan contended the price was too high. There was still sufficient land behind the library to afford adequate lighting for the building as it was, he said.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar felt the land would ultimately be required for library extension and the price might be considerably increased.

Alderman John A. Worthington also though the price of the strip was too high. He contended the fines account of the library, from which funds for the purchase would be taken, was city money.

Alderman B. J. Gadsden emphasized the point that money paid for the strip would be paid back to the city as tax arrears on the estate from which it was to be sold.

Alderman S. H. Okell noted the purchase had been carefully studied by the board and recommended by its members.

The price was too high, Alderman Archie Wills said. He thought the motion should be amended so it would not close the matter finally but would not accept the $2,000 figure, and asked a guarantee that whatever money was paid for the property would be returned to the city for arrears of taxes.

The vote to disallow the purchase was lost on a six to four division. Voting for the motion were Mayor McGavin and Aldermen Worthington, Morgan and Wills.

Alderman Williams brought in a new motion referring the question of purchase back to the library board with a view to securing a lower price and to obtain, in writing, an undertaking from the owners of the property that the purchase price should be applied to back taxes on adjoining property.

Alderman Williams' motion was carried.

West Coast Santa Claus Appeals

Citizens interested in the social and spiritual needs of the west coast of Vancouver Island met yesterday to further the work now being done by the United Church missionary, Rev. U. Laite of Bamfield, and his boat the Melvin Swartout.

Mr. Laite, who came from Newfoundland 18 months ago, has a parish extending from Franklin River to Kyuquot, which he covers every six weeks. It involves a round trip of 800 miles. Zeballos and McBride Bay are in his territory and he contacts loggers, miners, lumbermen, fishermen, lighthouse keepers and settlers.

The West Coast Marine Mission Fellowship aims to provide such accessories as may be needed for the missionary's work. Already a radio, typewriter and pair of binoculars have been sent. The organization works in co-operation with the Women's Missionary Societies who have been sending a supply of magazines, and are at present shaping up a traveling library. At the approach of Christmas Mr. Laite has sent urgent call for toys for the children to whom he would like to play Santa Claus.

Present Terms For Logging

The water board's recommendations regarding extension of time to the Kapoor Lumber Company for its operations on the Goldstream watershed were left on thte table by the City Council late yesterday after M. B. Jackson, K.C., appearing for the company, had asked amendment of the clauses.

The board suggested the logging operations cease on December 1 and be resumed February 1, continuing three months until the end of April, provided Mayo Singh took direct charge of the operations, the company paid the wages of a city-appointed sanitary inspector, posted a $3,000 bond to insure cleaning up of the logged-off area, and decided to use no caterpillar tractors.

Mayor Andrew McGavin stated certain agreements had been violated by the company. They included logging on areas where logging was not permitted.

Mr. Jackson asked that an extension of time be granted until the end of April, but that the company be allowed to continue work during December and January if the weather permitted. Tractors, he said, were needed to haul logs out if the company was to cut 50 per cent of the remaining timber which it had bought. Insistence on the management of the camp by Mayo would thoroughly disrupt the business arrangements of the company, he said.

Mayor McGavin pointed to alleged infractions of agreements following departure of Mayo Singh two years ago. Alderman Okell said use of the type of tractors employed was spoiling young growth, and Alderman B. J. Gadsden stated parts of the watershed had been virtually denuded by the method of logging practiced. The health committee had had considerable trouble over the question, Alderman J. A. Worthington said.

G. M. Irwin expressed the view the contract had not been carried out well. He cited specific instances in which the city's terms had been violated.

The water boards recommendations on the matter were left for further consideration.

At St. John's For 25 Years

Canon F. A. P. Chadwick Honored at Reception Held Last Night

St. John's Church, Victoria, was the scene of a reception last evening in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the coming to the church of Canon F. A. P. Chadwick.

Approximately 300 members of the congregation of the church and officials of the Anglican Church were present. Numerous letters and messages of congratulation to Mr. Chadwick were read from church heads in various parts of Canada.

Bishop H. E. Sexton acted as chairman. The main speaker was Archdeacon Sir Francis Heathcote of Vancouver, who told of his long acquaintance with Mr. Chadwick, remembering him first when he was a freshman at Trinity College.

Sir Francis also spoke of a recent trip to England, when he heard noted Anglican Church heads, including the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., gave a brief sketch of the work of St. John's Church since its inception in Victoria during the year 1861 up to the present time.

Mr. Chadwick had done a great deal of good during his 25 years' service. "I have yet to see a man who has done more for the south end of Vancouver Island," Mr Anscomb said.

Other speakers included Dean Spencer H. Elliott, Christ Church Cathedral; Canon N. Smith, rural deanery of Victoria; Archdeacon A. E. Nunns; R. E. Burns and S. C. Hawkins, churchwardens of St. John's Church, and Dr. J K. Unsworth, representing the other churches of Victoria.

A silver tea set was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick by R H. B. Ker on behalf of the congregation, and Mrs. J. Townsley presented Mrs. Chadwick with a bouquet.

Mr. Chadwick replied to the addresses of congratulation and the presentation, thanking all who took part. "I have done my best," he said, "and I hope that I will be with you all for a long time to come."

A short musical program was presented and refreshments were served.

Brighter Yuletide Is Chamber's Aim

Store and Home-Lighting Contests Arranged For Victoria and District

More attractive store windows and brighter residential districts next month to give Victoria and the surrounding municipalities a cheerful appearance during the Christmas season will be the aim of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, through the medium of a store window decorating and home decorative lighting competitions.

At last night's general meeting of the organization, Bill Mearns, chairman of the committee handling these two contests, reported that the contest for stores in Victoria and district was ready to swing into motion and that a large entry was expected, as the contest would stimulate trade and act as an incentive to the public to shop early.

Mr. Mearns pointed out that Spencer's, Hudson's Bay and B.C. Electric stores had agreed not to enter the contest, as they realized they had an advantage on the smaller firms by having special window decorators. They would, nevertheless, fall in line with the chamber's plan by decorating their windows appropriately for the festive season trade, he said.

Entries in this competition would close December 5, the committee chairman explained. Judging of displays starts December 7, from 7 to 10 in the evening, and each succeeding night at the same hours until December 10.

Entry blanks will be printed shortly and be made available to all who wish to enter.

HOME LIGHTING

The home lighting contest, Mr. Mearns told the meeting, would be held from December 19 to December 24. All home owners in Victoria and the municipalities would be invited to enter.

Members favored the idea of canvassing all home owners on Dallas Road and the Marine Drive, encouraging them to enter this second annual event in which substantial cash and merchandise prizes would be presented to those displays judged the most attractive. It was thought that a continuous array of attractively illuminated houses along the water front would make a very pretty sight.

Caravans to view both the downtown and residential displays are being contemplated by the chamber.

Unanimous endorsement of the fine work the Victoria Forum Association was doing to promote the construction of a forum in this city, was given by the members. The meeting also approved last night's action of the City Council to put a referendum before the voters at the coming civic election to find out their feeling on the matter of borrowing money from the Dominion Government to construct the arena. Report of the council's action was made by Ernest Harris, immediate past president of the Junior Chamber.

Conway Parrott, president, was in the chair.

U.S. MAY SELL MORE TO CHINA

But Big Decrease Few Years Hence Seen As Japanese Gain

WASHINGTON (AP)—If United States trade with China follows the pattern traced in Manchukuo, American exporters may see their business with the Chinese increase for a few years and then go into a tailspin. At stake is a total trade of about $153,000,000.

Experts base their belief on the fact that Japan's economy, strained by an unexpectedly long war, will not be able to provide China's needs for a time. When Japan is back on her economic feet, however, the situation will be different.

Arcand Planning Anti-Semitic Steps

MONTREAL (CP) — Adrien Arcand, Dominion president of the National Unity Party, said last night a three-month anti-Semitic drive would be opened in Toronto, December 5, and would be a drive against immigration of Jewish refugees from European countries.

"Our contention is," he said, "that these refugees should go to Russia instead of coming to Canada. Russia has large uninhabited territories and needs population. Yiddish is an official language there. It is a Jewish Marxian paradise and they should go to that paradise and not come to Canada."

The campaign would extend throughout Ontario and Quebec, and eventually through all Canada, he said.

Mrs. John Hart Entertains at Tea Today

Wives of Out-of-town Members Are Guests of Honor

While the session brings in its train arduous work for its members, it also connotes numerous social functions for the entertainment of the cavalcade of wives who acompany their parliamentarian husbands here from the hinterland. One of the most delightful of the affairs arranged for the entertainment of the wives of out-of-town members of the House was the "at home" given by Mrs. John Hart, wife of the Minister of Finance, this afternoon at her charming home on Fairfield Road.

Numbering about 100, the guests were received by Mrs. Hart in a graceful gown of beige georgette, with jacquette of lace, with which she wore an antique brooch and earrings. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with autumn flowers, bronze and deep gold chrysanthemums being massed in the hall and in the drawing-room.

Salesmanship Class Closes With Party

The first of this autumn's classes in salesmanship, organized under the Dominion-provincial Youth Training Plan, held their closing party at the Y.W.C.A. last week, when the girls received their examination results, and Mrs. Leonard, instructress, was presented with a very beautiful coffee table by the girls.

Games, dancing, music and refreshments were enjoyed, and Miss Dorothy Warren made a most excellent "master of ceremonies," ably assisted by Miss Elsie Simpson, Miss Donagh Macklin and Miss Jessie Christian. Miss Phyllis Williamson contributed harmonica solos, and Miss Dorothy McLaren vocal solos, accompanied by Miss Violet Mylrea.

Miss Helen Kirkwood welcomed the girls to the "Y" and invited them to join some of the various "Y" clubs. The salesmanship class is one of four vocational training classes for girls organized by the Dominion-provincial governments. The dressmaking and commercial refresher classes are full-length school term daytime classes, the household training class is a six-months' course (registrations are already beginning to come in for next April's class), and the salesmanship class is the shortest of the four, several courses being organized during the year. All these classes are freee to the unemployed girl who is anxious to better equip herself for earning her living, and all classes are sponsored by the Y.W.C.A.

The next salesmanship class, with Mrs. Leonard as instructor, will hold its first meeting tomorrow evening at 7.30, at the Y.W.C.A. Any girls who have not already registered should do so at once at the Y.W.C.A.

First United Church W.M.S. met Monday afternoon, the meeting presided over by Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, the president. A resolution to be presented to the provincial government drafted by the Victoria Presbyterial, opposing the sale of beer and wine in restaurants, was endorsed. The worship service was led by Mrs. Darrell. Miss A. Rennie presented a life membership to Mrs. J. Strang. Mrs. W. H. Gibson, Presbyterial secretary of Christian stewardship, made an appeal for support of the missionary work. Mrs. A. Chisholm led in prayer. The December meeting will be a special Christmas service, held jointly with the "Anne Wilson" auxiliary, on December 19, when the annual reports will be due. The nominating committee, Mrs. H. M. CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME
If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.
This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

TRADE TREATIES LESSON TO OTHERS

LONDON (CP)—The trade agreements between Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom were described yesterday as "the one gleam of sanity in a world qualifying for bedlam," by Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, at a Canadian Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"You may ask what about the political effects of the agreements," said Mr. Stanley. "The fact is I never look on this as a political treaty. I have looked on it entirely as an economic bargain. Any political effects are natural results of the successfully concluded negotiations which we hope will lead to increased trade and prosperity between the three countries."

The Ottawa agreements of 1932, Mr. Stanley said, never were intended to mean an exclusive economic empire or to present the tragic sight of a closed door. It was natural in trade matters, he said, that "we should consider our own interests first and the Empire next."

He paid a tribute to Canada's co-operation in making the British-United States accord possible and added: "I have never considered negotiations of this kind inconsistent with the Ottawa pacts, but rather supplementary. I believe the pact will enable us to build on the foundations laid at Ottawa a bigger and mightier edifice."

In a passage interpreted as a hint the British official attitude was hardening toward anti-Jewish attacks in Germany, he said: "It is no business of ours what other peoples adopt for their own creeds and rules of life, but when they are such as to be alien to our characteristics and detestable to our ideas then surely we are entitled to say at the right time: 'Thus far and no farther.'"

Russia Runs Short Of Baby Diapers

MOSCOW (AP) — An alarming diaper shortage in Soviet Russia was revealed today by the newspaper Izvestia.

Inefficient organization was blamed by the government organ for the losing race diaper factories are running with the increasingly busy Russian stork.

"In 1938," Izvestia said, "the people's commissariat of public health ordered the production of 3,170,000 sets of diapers for newborn infants.

"But although this figure was below the actual needs, the commissariat of light industry produced, during the first nine months of 1938, only 765,900."

JAPANESE CHARGE U.S. DISCRIMINATION

TOKIO (AP)—The Foreign Office spokesman touched on discrimination he said existed against Japanese residing in the United States in a discussion Monday of the open door policy in China.

"We do not like the terms open door and equal opportunity," the spokesman asserted, indicating the government was considering a concrete statement of what it considers "inapplicable ideas and principles of the past."

He stressed the meanings he held could be found between the lines of the Japanese reply last Friday denying American charges of "unwarranted interference" with interests in China.

The Japanese note, he said, "does not especially mention the Nine-Power Pact (acknowledging the principle of the open door' nor the principles of the open door and equal opportunity.

"Respecting these latter I must say Japan does not like the terms. They are not applied anywhere else in the world, neither in the United States nor in any other country.

"Therefore, why should it be insisted they continue to exist in China?"

As to discrimination against Japanese in the United States, he said. "It exists in the land laws of various states and in the national policy of exclusion.

"Whether Japan will specifically point out these facts in later communications to America is not yet decided."

Opera Ballet Is Spectacular Success

Exquisite Dancing Acclaimed by Capacity Audience

Before an audience which filled the house to its utmost capacity—and in fact nearly 300 would-be patrons were turned away disappointed—the San Francisco Opera Ballet presented a performance of superlative beauty at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night.

Four ballets were presented, each expressing the poetry of movement in its varied moods, each a gem of choreography, the costumes enhancing the beauty of the four diversified pictures presented by this gifted ensemble of young dancers. It is to be regretted that there was no orchestral support to round out an otherwise brilliant production, although the two pianists, Lea Yergano and Marya Smith acquitted themselves admirably in the heavy role of accompanists and deservedly shared in the ovation which greeted the dancers at the close.

The opening Ballet Impromptu, an "abstract inception" inspired by Bach's Suite in B Minor, No. 2, introduced practically the whole company and quickly established the beauty of their ensemble work in a perfectly-balanced performance. Jacqueline Martin, who danced a minuet with exquisite grace, and Ronald Chetwood, whose Bourree revealed impeccable technique, were the soloists, supported by a group of about 15 dancers in a series of perfectly-timed and fluid movements.

Comedy always has a popular appeal and the second ballet, a picture of Old Vienna of the seventies, was a delicious bit of choreographic burlesque, which captured the gay spirit of the Strauss music. With its setting an outdoor cafe, it introduced three ladies of fashion, who proved to be veritable Mrs. Grundys in their obvious disapproval of the gay souhrettes who indulged in a series of high kicks and of the gay boulevardier who ogled the trio of coquettes; a bewildered waiter, a gallant Hussar who danced a dreamy Strauss waltz with his "love of the moment," and a flower girl.

The second scene was a ball in a nobleman's palace which served to introduce the tiny premier ballerina of the company, Janet Reed, whose solo dance was the epitome of grace and an exposition of the finest ballet tradition.

In marked contrast was the "Romeo and Juliet" ballet a dramatic interpretation of Shakespeare's great tragedy, with Janet Reed in a sensitive and artistic performance as Juliet, ably supported by William Christensen as Romeo, a fine dancer well schooled in the technique of the ballet, and by Ronald Chetwood as an impulsive Tybalt, the duelling scenes between the rival factions of Capulet and Montague, the magnificent costumes and Tschaikowsky music, all contributing to the beauty of this medieval spectacle.

With the exception of the amusing "Danse Chinois," from the Nutcracker Suite, an effective bit of dance miming by Peggy Bates and James Starbuck, and the colorful Tarantella from Rossiniana (Respighi), which was the quintessence of jocundity, the final group of divertisements adhered more closely to the classical. Excerpts from the Faust ballet (Gounod), including the "Helen of Troy" solo by Janet Reed, and from the "Rosamunde" ballet (Schubert) revealed again the finished technique and concluded a program of high artistic calibre conforming to the best European traditions of the ballet.

Manion Doubts Treaty Swing

OTTAWA (CP) — Not even the best tariff expert in Canada could definitely decide now whether the gains or losses tip the scale in the Canadian-United States trade agreement, Hon. R. J. Manion, national Conservative leader, said yesterday in his first comment on the agreement signed last Thursday in Washington.

However, Dr. Manion, in a statement reviewing several factors in the treaty, asked whether in the pact Canada had not "given up the British substance for the American shadow."

"I freely admit the agreement favors certain producers in Canada, as all agreements naturally must," he said. "At the same time, one cannot help but wonder as to its ultimate effect on Canada as a whole when one observes that already dispatches emanating from the United States claim, for example, that the removal of the preference in the British market for Canadian wheat will give back to the United States not only a large market for American wheat, but will bring about a rerouting of Canadian wheat through American ports instead of as at present, because of the preference, through Canadian ports. Only experience can tell the damage this change may do to Canada through its ports and through the displacement of Canadian wheat by American.

"The same inquiry comes to one's mind regarding the reduced preference on Canadian fruits in the British market, and one wonders as to the harm that may be done to the Annapolis Valley, the Niagara Peninsula and the Okanagan Valley through this charge by the replacing of our products by American fruits. An answer to both of the above questions can be given only through study and experience."

FAMOUS DIAMOND CUTTER PASSES

Sir Arthur Levy, Who Worked Cullinan Stone, Dies in London

LONDON (CP-Havas) — Sir Arthur Levy, 83, who supervised the cutting and polishing of the famous "Stars of Africa," from the Cullinan diamond, died yesterday.

He succumbed just 30 years to the day after the finished stones were delivered to King Edward VII at Windsor Castle. During 1907 and 1908 Sir Arthur acted as advisor and expert. The Cullinan diamond was discovered at the Premier Mine near Pretoria in 1905 and purchased by the Transval government for presentation to the King.

The original was cut into nine major stones, 96 small brilliants and a number of polished ends. The two largest stones were named "the Stars of Africa" at the King's request and placed in his sceptre and crown.

Hope For Increase

LONDON—No penguin chicks have been hatched at the London Zoo for eight years, but authorities are hoping the luck will change this year. Eight penguins are in turn sitting on four eggs in four nests.

Sapsuckers are not particular as to what trees they feed on, and about 250 species are subject to their attacks.

BONELLI TO SING IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER — The thrilling baritone voice of a great Metropolitan Opera star will be heard in Vancouver when Richard Bonelli appears at the Auditorium, Nov. 23, fresh from his triumphs with the San Francisco Opera, en route back to New York to rejoin the Metropolitan in time for the gala Christmas season.

Bonelli first made his name in the capitals of Europe, where his daring, forthright interpretations of his songs caught the passionate fancy of excitable Italian audiences. Triumphs in Monte Carlo, Berlin, Brussels and other gay capitals gave him a ready-made following when he returned in glory to America. National network programs at once demanded his services and he soon became a universal favorite.

Had it not been for his special trip west to sing with the San Francisco Opera, Vancouver would not have had the privilege of hearing him, under the management of Hilker Attractions.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. What is the most that a girl can do when she doesn't want to date a boy and wants him to stop asking her?

2. Is it necessary for a girl to tell a boy who has taken her out that she enjoyed the evening?

3. Should a girl say "Thank you" when someone at a party brings her a drink?

4. Should you thank a doorman for holding open a door for you?

5. Should you say "please" in giving your number to an elevator operator?

What would you do if—

You learn that an acquaintance is ill—

(a) Send flowers?
(b) Write a note?
(c) Call?

ANSWERS

1. All she can do is to refuse him politely—but consistently.
2. Yes.
3. Yes. If she doesn't say "No, thank you."
4. No, it is not necessary.
5. Yes.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—either (a) or (b) is usually better.

TRAFFIC DEATH

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Haih, 50, died in a hospital yesterday from injuries sustained when he was knocked down by an automobile Sunday night. His death brought Vancouver's traffic accident toll since the beginning of the year to 30.

Mayhew Views Treaties

Trade Agreements Bring Whole Anglo-Saxon World Together

The triangular trade agreement between Canada, Great Britain and U.S. has opened a market of 140,000,000 people to Canada in trade for a portion of Canadian preference to the United Kingdom of 50,000,000 people, R. W. Mayhew, M.P., told the annual meeting of the Oak Bay Liberal Association last night.

"And I think it was pretty fair trade for Canada," Mr. Mayhew added during the course of a brief review of the trade negotiations.

"It took some of the best brains of Britain, U.S. and Canada the best part of a year to prepare the agreement," Mr. Mayhew said.

The whole agreement was drafted in a spirit of friendship, he continued. There was no doubt that had been the dominating factor of the deliberations of those concerned.

"In my mind that carries with it the very essence of good business, which is goodwill," he said. Goodwill carried a business far.

LONG LIFE SEEN

Because it was drafted in this spirit, Mr. Mayhew predicted long life for the agreement and also the easy ironing out of any difficulties which might arise during its operation.

He thought the agreement a very remarkable one, which brought together practically the whole Anglo-Saxon world.

At no time was Canada asked to share her loyalty to the British Empire, and Mr. Mayhew did not think Canadian representatives would have stayed long around the conference table if this request had been made.

As a result Canada today had the best neighbor in the world, he said.

Among the first acts of the conference had been the action of the U.S. in specifying it was not necessary to mark Canadian manufactured lumber "Made in Canada," and in this Mr. Mayhew saw that the U.S. was carrying out the promise of its President when he said U.S. would offer Canada protection.

He predicted a boom in the B.C. shingle trade as a result of the removal of the quota, which would increase provincial payrolls by $3,000,000, back to the 1931 level before the quota was instituted. The lumber business itself had dropped $13,000,000 as a result of the quota, he continued, predicting a return to the 1929 output of around $15,000,000.

Wheat men were not alarmed by the preference given the U.S. grain. The increased cattle movement from the prairies to the U.S. would result in a corresponding increase for B.C.'s cattle business, although not a direct export movement.

In discussing the general question of providing for the youth of today, Mr. Mayhew reiterated his stand for a policy which would give young people out of work an opportunity to join the army or navy or be placed in federally sponsored farm training schools.

At the close of his address, Mr. Mayhew was given a vote of appreciation for the work he had done for Victoria during his year in office. J. V. Johnson, who moved the resolution, said "he has done more in a year than his predecessors in office did in 25 years."

Trackless Trolleys Running in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trackless trolley buses, first to appear in western Canada, were in service today on a west-end line of the Winnipeg Electric Company. When the six new buses started yesterday from near Portage and Main Streets of downtown Winnipeg, the city became the second in the Dominion to have the latest method of electric transportation. Montreal trolley buses have been running for almost a year.

The new buses operate on a double trolley, the electric current flowing from one wire into the bus motor and out over the other wire. Long flexible trolleys allow the buses to swing in and out of traffic without losing contact with their power wires.

Old Stoves

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Salesmen who assured Saul County residents the stoves they were selling were of a model that won first prize at the Chicago World's Fair were ordered to "cease and desist" by Ralph Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture and markets. The agents neglected to specify, Ammon said, that the fair was the one held in 1893.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bette Davis' "marital vacation" from her husband, Harmon Nelson, will end in a divorce court.

The blond star, after two months apart from her childhood sweetheart, telegraphed reports last night: "There will not be an reconciliation. Harmon will apply for a divorce."

G. N. MOWAT IS OAK BAY LIBERAL HEAD

Succeeds W. E. Adams As President of Ward Six and Seven Group

George N. Mowat was elected president of the Oak Bay Liberal Association at the annual meeting in the Liberal headquarters last night.

Mr. Mowat succeeded Walter E. Adams.

Edward Cooper was named vice-president, C. B. McIntosh, secretary; Mrs. F. J. Mitchell, treasurer; J. V. Johnson, C. Collinson, W. E. Adams, F. M. McGregor and Stephen Flanagan, executive committee, and W. Adams and J. V. Johnson, delegates to central executive.

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., Premier Pattullo, Hon. John Hart and W. T. Straith, M.P.P., were named honorary presidents.

Sees Conservative In Oak Bay Seat

'Gift on a Tray,' Says Liberal President Of Division

Division of the Victoria electoral district to make a separate riding of Oak Bay was described as "a gift on a tray to some Conservative candidate" by George N. Mowat, president of the Oak Bay Liberal Association, last night.

Addressing the annual meeting of the association, Mr. Mowat brought the question of the riding's division before the meeting as a matter that had been before the association executive for consideration.

Mr. Mowat said his opinion was only a personal one, but he was against the division since Oak Bay was only part of the metropolitan centre of Victoria, which it relied for all its services.

Mr. Mowat also dealt with what he claimed was the need for a post office distributing centre in Oak Bay, in the event of the separate riding being created.

The questions introduced by him were tabled for further discussion pending actions by the government on the division of the riding.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE URGED

Alberta Labor Federation Also Will Debate Health Insurance Proposals

EDMONTON (CP)—Requests for establishment of health and unemployment insurance, a maximum 40-hour work week and a male minimum wage of at least 50 cents an hour will be considered by the Alberta Federation of Labor at its annual convention in Calgary next week.

Resolutions embodying the requests were approved by members of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council last night and will be submitted to the provincial convention by a delegation expected to include 10 members.

Another resolution being submitted proposed by Alderman Sydney Parsons, vice-president of the council, asks the federation, "through the Trades Congress of Canada," for establishment of a revolving fund out of national credit to be loaned to the provinces and cities at cost for public construction purposes. The fund would be administered by a board of technicians, chosen by the Dominion Government, which would pass on all proposed projects.

An amendment was also sought to the Old Age Pensions Act "to provide for the granting of pensions to all persons over 60 and that property exemptions of $2,500 be provided for."

Four Face Trial In Canal Zone

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone (AP)—Four youthful Germans accused of photographing Canal Zone fortifications in violation of the United States Espionage Act pleaded innocent in federal court here yesterday.

The case was set for trial December 7 before a jury, each defendant to be tried separately. The four, one a girl, were arrested October 16.

On motion of defence counsel, bail for Hans Friedrich Schackow, 26, was reduced from $25,000 to $15,000. Bail for the three other defendants, Ingeborg Waltrunt Gutmann, 19; Gisbert Wilhelm Gross, 26, and Ernst Robert Edward Khurig, 29, was cut from $10,000 to $5,000 each.

King George I of England could not speak the language of his domain.

MORE TRADE FOR MARITIMES SEEN

Hon. J. L. Ilsey Tells His Constituents Pact With U.S. Big Step

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP)—Canada's new trade treaty with the United States, Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of National Revenue, says, will be "regarded as one of the longest steps forward ever taken by a Canadian government."

Addressing a meeting of his Digby-Annapolis-Kings constituency yesterday, Mr. Ilsley declared the treaty, signed in Washington last week, would bring "new hope to many thousands of fishermen," save stock raisers money through reduction of Indian corn duties, help lumbering and aid dairymen through reduction of cream-separator duties.

In the first explanation by a cabinet minister of the agreement, Mr. Ilsley told his audience in this section of Nova Scotia's famed apple-growing Annapolis valley that reduction of the British preference on apples would not retard the valley's trade.

Instead, taken with other provisions of the agreement, it "will prove to help rather than hurt."

The minister said it had been predicted the agreement would do away with the British preference on apples, direct shipment provisions on them, routing of goods through Halifax and other details. The preference, however, was being maintained, and direct shipment provisions preserved. The port would not only retain shipping and handling business, but would share in improvement in condition of primary producers resulting from the agreement.

SAFEGUARDS AS DAM CONSTRUCTED

Canadian-U.S. Commission Suggests Board Protect Idaho Wheat Lands

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Joint Commission recommended today establishment of a two-man board of control to protect vast wheat lands bordering the Kootenay River in Idaho against flood damage.

In a report to the State Department and the Department of External Affairs in Canada, the commission recommended close supervision over operation of a dam controlled by the West Kootenay Light and Power Company, a Canadian firm, at Corra Linn, B.C., to prevent spring floods below the border.

The commission recommended $3,000 a year be expended to assist farmers in pumping and ditching operations.

The West Kootenay Light and Power Company, a subsidiary of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail, B.C., wishes to raise the level of Kootenay Lake six feet. This operation, however, would endanger $2,000,000 worth of wheat land in Idaho, the commission reported.

The suggested board of control would consist of two engineers, one from each country. They would be charged with supervising operation of the Corra Linn dam so the power company would have six feet of storage water in the winter, but considerably less during the spring floods.

The Kootenay River is a tributary of the Columbia River.

NEW CREDIT PLAN URGED IN ALBERTA

S. D. Walker Says His Proposal Is Not Social Credit

EDMONTON (CP) — S. D. Walker of Edmonton has been discussing with some Social Credit members of the Alberta Legislature a new credit plan of which he is sponsor.

"So far I have been unable to arrange a group meeting," he said yesterday. "The members I have spoken to were quite interested.

"My plan is 'credit,' not Social Credit. There is no such thing as social credit as it can't meet the laws of this country."

Mr. Walker was not prepared to divulge details of his plan, merely stating it could be put into operation within three months.

In the 1935 election, Mr. Walker announced he was contesting an Edmonton seat as a Douglas Social crediter. Later, he withdrew from the field, stating he was supporting the Liberal Party.

DRINK LEADS TO JAIL

NEWTON, N.C. (AP)—A witness in a trial here took the stand, pulled a bottle from his pocket and took a swig. Then he turned to Judge Wilson Warlock:

"Judge," he said, "have a drink."

"Thirty days for contempt," the judge ordered. He also remanded the witness to city court on a charge of possessing and transporting whisky.

No Dominion-British Military Pledge Given

International Cage Series

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

AFTER WATCHING Victoria's revamped McKechnie Cup rugby fifteen work out at Macdonald Park Sunday morning under the expert eye of Coach Wally Brynjolfson, we are of the opinion the 1938 edition of the Crimson Tide will be no pushover for its mainland opponents.

There is plenty of speed in the three-quarter line, and the scrum is one of the heaviest seen here in recent seasons. The pack, greatly bolstered by two local turf heavies, "Tor" Young of the Navy and Ian Acland of the Oak Bay Wanderers, averages close to 185 pounds.

On paper the local reps' chances look better than many give them credit for. Early in the season the Bays came within one point of defeating the Vancouver Rowing Club. The Rowing Club whipped Varsity. Varsity was beaten by the Vancouver reps, and the Vancouver squad includes seven men from the Rowing Club in its line-up That should add up to something. Reasonable odds would be 3 to 2 on Vancouver to win the series and an even bet Victoria will take Varsity, even if they don't bring the McKechnie Cup back to the island.

The New York Athletic Commission has put the physical O.K. on Henry Armstrong and Ceferino Garcia for their welterweight title struggle in the big town November 25. The postponement from Nov. 2, necessitated by a training injury to Armstrong, looks like a good thing for promoter Mike Jacobs after all. Chill weather in the east now will work the fans up to a better feeling for an indoor affair.

In its chatty way the sports page of the New York Post devoted the item to Art Coulter and Muzz Patrick, New York Ranger hockey team defencemen, for shaving off their beards in Chicago. Some horsemen insist the shoes really won for Seabiscuit over War Admiral in their recent match race. They point out the Biscuit was dancing around in light aluminum plates and Man o' War's son wore "clogs" weighing twice as much.

Conny Smythe, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League, claims the day of super stars in hockey has passed. He names Eddie Shore of Boston as the only one remaining. And also points out development of the game into a thing of co-ordinated speed makes it tough for other super stars to rise. He also says it is hard to find in the N.H.L. now the bristling color and personality of such greats as Frank (King) Clancy, Lionel Conacher or Ching Johnson.

Helen Wills Moody, billed as plain "Helen Wills," lectured in Carnegie Hall, New York, last week, the first of a series that will take her all over the country. Her subject is "Make Life a Game." Dizzy Dean is on a lecture tour of the middle west, while Jack Dempsey is booming business in Brooklyn night spots by making personal appearances.

Dominoes and Smart Seattle Squad Play Here Friday and Saturday

Basketball menu this week-end will see the Dominoes go up against the crack Home Undertaking squad from Seattle, managed by Chuck Durgan, in the first two games of a best of three series for a handsome international trophy jointly sponsored by Joe Murray and the Dominoes

Games will be played on Friday and Saturday nights, with a preliminary opening the show each evening at 7.45.

The trophy, now on display in the windows of Art Chapman's store on Fort Street, will be played for annually between the Dominoes and a Seattle aggregation. Should the clubs split the games here this week the third and deciding tilt will be played in the Sound city later in the season. Two straight victories here for either the Dominoes or Homes will give the winning club possession of the award.

MOTTISHAW COMING

Chuck Durgan, well-known to Victoria fans, through his having brought some of the best basketball clubs to invade the local court in recent years, will trot out another smart aggregation. Included on his team will be Jack Mottishaw, former member of the Dominoes. Other players will be Joe Murray, Bobby Walker and Harry Kessler.

Murray has made several appearances here this season as a referee. Kessler is claimed to be one of the fastest men playing basketball in Seattle and Durgan figures he will provide Red Davies, speed ace of the Dominoes, with all the action he wants.

The Homes will take no chances and bring over nine players, so they will have plenty of reserve material to throw up against the local outfit.

Referees for the international series will be Jim McCulloch of Seattle and Bill Levy of Victoria.

Secretary Will Ritchie of the Dominoes stated today he was completing arrangements to have the Seattle all-star team which will leave early in the new year for a tour of the Philippine Islands, visit Victoria for a game with the Dominoes. It will likely be played on January 7. This club will be composed of former University of Washington players who took over the tour when it was impossible for the Washington Huskies to travel to the islands.

Tomorrow night the Dominoes will make their second league start against the second place Northwestern Creamery squad. In their last meeting the Northwesterns, managed by Carl Coates, gave the Dominoes plenty of stiff competition and they are hoping to hand the leaders their first league defeat.

This will be the feature of a three-game card starting at 7.15.

All games will be played at the High School gym.

Kilian and Vopel Break Up as Team

BUFFALO, N.Y. — The almost invincible six-day bicycle team of Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel will be broken up for the first time with next Monday's Buffalo grind, it was announced yesterday.

The German riders, winners of 13 out of 15 races since their arrival in the United States 18 months ago, will race in Buffalo with new partners, Promoter Harry Mendel said.

Only twice in their American career has the Germans' dominance over the cycling scene been broken. Once it was by the Peden brothers, Doug and Torchy, of Victoria, B.C., and later by Jimmy Walthour and Al Crosley, the Americans.

Armstrong Favored

Rules 5 to 8 Choice to Whip Garica in Welterweight Bout Friday

NEW YORK (CP)—The fight faithful, having suffered considerably in recent days with such doings as Tony Galento's sorrowful "comeoack" and last week's "middleweight title" affair between Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett, girded today for the serious business of Henry Armstrong's welterweight title defence against Ceferino Garcia.

The dusky double champion—welterweight and lightweight—puts his 145-pound title on the block against the Filipino in Madison Square Garden Friday night in a 15-round bout that was supposed to come off three weeks ago.

At that time Henry hurt himself in his final workout, but the boys who make fight odds have [illegible] muscles and reports his lips haven't mended since he fought Lou Ambers and gained the lightweight crown last August. They bravely installed Armstrong as 5 to 8 favorite.

MUST SCORE KNOCKOUT

These same boys figure the only way Garcia, bolo punch and everything else considered, can win is by a knockout, and offer 2½ to 1 that such a thing doesn't happen.

There was a fair-sized line of ticket buyers on hand yesterday and promoter Mike Jacobs talks of a sell-out and cash in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Armstrong will be giving away something like 10 pounds to Garcia, who feels so sure of winning that already he is bidding for a shot at Apostoli, winner over Corbett and recognized in New York state as world middleweight king.

In the matter of records, Henry has 35 knockout victims in 39 winning stands since January 1, 1937. Garcia has 12 straight wins, 11 by knockouts.

Six Montreal Players Named

Dominate Annual All-star Team of Ontario Rugby Football Union

TORONTO—The drab, black uniform of Montreal Nationals, a new force on the eastern football scene this season, provided the main color of the Ontario Rugby Football Union's all-star team which came down today.

No fewer than six members from Hoddy Foster's club gained a spot on the line-up. Only two places were allotted Sarnia Imperials, for seven years the union champions. Balmy Beach Stars won the other four positions, the 14 sports writers and coaches who selected the team for the Canadian Press overlooking Peterborough Orfuns entirely.

The Union's two outstanding players, Sarnia's Hugh (Bummer) Stirling and Montreal's Johnny Ferraro, drew an unanimous vote to provide the backfield with unlimited power. Following is the team: Flying wing, Ernie Hempey, Nationals; half, Johnny Ferraro, Nationals; half, Eddie Thompson, Beaches; half (secondary defence), Hugh Stirling, Sarnia; quarterback, Ab Box, Beaches; snap, Dave Ryan, Nationals; inside, Alex Fleming, Nationals; inside, Bob Reid, Beaches; middle, Mike Clawson, Sarnia; middle, Tommy Burns, Nationals; outside, Eddie Burton, Nationals; outside, yd Reynolds, Beaches.

Built around stars who failed with Montreal Indians in the Interprovincial Union, Nats clicked immediately under Foster's leadership and they were beaten once during the regular schedule.

144 Records Before A.A.U.

United States Rulers Asked to Approve Many Marks; Canadian Included

NEW YORK—A total of 144 record performances in track and field, swimming, weight lifting and horseshoe pitching will be presented to the United States Amateur Athletic Union for approval at its annual convention at Washington, starting December 2.

The list is topped by Glenn Cunningham's 4.04.4 mile, made on Dartmouth College's indoor track last March.

Also included is the 3,000-metres walk record of 13.39.9 held by Henry Cieman of Toronto.

Cunningham's record, and all the rest that are not bettered by others on the same list, likely will [illegible] Only one of the track performances will be submitted to the International Amateur Athletic Federation for world-record consideration, however. That is the 440-yard relay time of 40.5 seconds, made by the University of Southern California quartette of Leland Lafond, William C. Anderson, Payton Jordan and Adrian Talley, last May. It betters the record of 40.8 set by another Southern California team in 1931.

Cunningham's mile would not receive international recognition because the I.A.A.F. does not accept records made indoors.

World records in swimming that will come up for American recognition are Ralph Flangan's 5.56.5 for the 500-metres freestyle over a 25-yard course and Jack Kasley's 1.08.6 for the 100 metres breaststroke.

PORTLAND AND VANCOUVER TIE

Play 1 to 1 Draw in Coast Hockey; Spokane Suspends Operations

VANCOUVER (CP) — The league-leading Portland Buckaroos headed south today, still tops in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, but wondering what kind of a high sign Vancouver Lions had on them.

Lions, apparently permanently rid of their recent losing jinx, made the Bucks come from behind to gain a 1 to 1 overtime draw last night for the second straight time. The teams played a 3 to 3 deadlock in Portland Thursday.

The result increased Bucks margin to five points ahead of the second-place Seattle Sea Hawks, but Lions, who climbed from the league cellar over the week-end fell back again through unavoidable circumstance.

The Spokane Clippers, over whom the Lions climbed into third place, momentarily suspended operations pending disposal of their franchise by owner Art Rud, leaving Vancouver again the cellar. Clippers were scheduled to oppose Lions here last night, but failed to appear and the Bucks went in as "sub" opposition.

Ten Clubs of U.S. League Have Already Attracted 1,016,255

NEW YORK — Among those who will join the spirit of Thanksgiving in the United States this week are owners of the 10 clubs in the National Professional Football League.

Already this season they have enticed 1,016,255 cash customers to their games, and there still are seven league contests to be played, not counting the big playoff between the eastern and western divisions of the league. Last year's record total attendance was only slightly over 1,000,000.

At least five clubs already have set new individual crowd marks. They are Detroit, Green Bay, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia. On one day this fall 129,000 persons paid their way into the professional citadels.

A.A.U. Refuses

VANCOUVER — A representative meeting of lower mainland boxing clubs Sunday voted in favor of continuing the present set-up of the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

The meeting was called after three members of the committee of four handed their resignations to Warren Martin of Victoria, president of the provincial A.A.U. Friday.

After the meeting yesterday Martin announced the resignations of Norman Porter, Art Jefferd and Reg Moir, all of Vancouver, had not yet been accepted by the executive. He added that a mail vote of the executive would be held shortly on the question of the resignations.

"Because of the feeling of the meeting here today I am inclined to think that the present set-up of the committee will continue," Warren said.

He explained that the resignations were received after the executive were reported considering a resolution to increase the committee by the addition of two members, named by the president.

Win Predicted For Victoria

Local Rep Ruggers to Answer Thunderbird Challenge Saturday

Trained to a fine point, and rated by their coach, Wally Brynjolfson, 50 per cent stronger and faster than they were last year, Victoria's Crimson Tide will answer the Thunderbird rugby challenge on the mainland Saturday.

Seventeen players will make the trip to Vancouver when the local reps make their season debut at Varsity stadium. The University's boast of a pushover will be answered by the best all-star rugby team Victoria has taken out of the city in recent years. The team will work out tomorrow and Thursday at Macdonald Park at 6.30.

Accompanying the squad on the trip will be Jack Rowland, chairman of the selection committee, who will act as manager in the place of Bert Buller, who will not be able to make the trip this week-end, and Wally Brynjolfson, coach.

At a meeting last night, Brynjolfson said he was confident his team would make a good showing, while one of the Rugby Union officials today quietly predicted the score would probably be about 10 to 3 in favor of Victoria.

Jack Grogan, Jack Ferguson, Bill Halkett, Joe Roberts, Doug Willard, Harry Barber, Bill Smith, Doug Bray, Bob Mair, Cyril Doheny, Ian Acland, "Tor" Young, Frank Doheny, Bill Bornall, Lieut. Webber, Red Fisher and Jack Cosier will make the trip.

With the reps playing in Vancouver, intermediate ruggers will have things all to themselves here Saturday. The league-leading Wanderers are scheduled to meet the Canadian Scottish and Victoria College will battle the Navy Whites, both at Macdonald Park.

Gottselig Hockey's Top Scorer

Chicago Star Heads N.H.L. With Seven Points; Canadiens Meet Amerks

Into the Boston stronghold, where many a team has met its Waterloo, march the New York Rangers tonight to pit their unbeaten National Hockey League record against the Bruins, the aging but still-fiery Eddie Shore and last but not least a host of Bruin supporters whose enthusiasm knows no bounds. The winner of tonight's game will take over first place.

It's the game fans around the circuit have been waiting for, and it headlines tonight's card on which Montreal Canadiens make their seventh start. Still seeking their first victory of the season, they play New York Americans.

The Amerks are in fifth place, with three victories in five starts. As in the Boston-Ranger clash, it is the first meeting of the season for the Amerks and the Flying Frenchmen, who have lost six games in a row.

SCORING LEADERS

Johnny Gottselig, wingman for the champion Chicago Black Hawks, leads the parade of the league point-getters in the first official scoring statistics issued by the league last night.

The Story of Hypnotism

II—"PUTTING TO SLEEP"

The word "hypnotism" came from the Greek language, and means "putting to sleep." A person really does go into a kind of sleep when he is hypnotized. It is hard or impossible, to awaken him from it unless you know the secret.

Braid's first hypnotism. (Picture based on an old print.)

Mesmer did not use the name "hypnotism," but he was a real pioneer. When he "magnetized" or "mesmerized" people, he did just about the same thing to them as is done when people are hypnotized. He did not need the magnets or wands he used. His power came because he was able to make people think in certain ways while he was treating them, not because of so-called "animal magnetism."

An English surgeon, Dr. James Braid, learned about Mesmer's work, and carried out tests of his own. In 1843 he published a book in which he said that the work of putting people into a nervous sleep should be called hypnotism.

Dr. Braid and several other doctors in Great Britain and France hypnotized hundreds of persons. [illegible] could be used to take pain away from operations. There are records of a large number of people, in those early days, who were put to sleep before surgeons worked with knife or saw, and who said afterward that they had felt no pain.

The magnets and wands were gone, but hypnotism worked without them. Cases were reported of people being cured of illness through its help. Here are a few facts which have been learned about hypnotized persons.

The heart beat often rises during the sleep. The heart of one woman patient beat 100 times per minute, instead of her normal rate of 80.

A person may be able to read much smaller print when hynotized. A French doctor reported a patient who read letters so small that 250 of them could be placed side by side in the space of one inch.

The sense of smell can be made much sharper. One of Braid's patients was blindfolded, and was asked to tell the names of many persons in a room. By smelling a glove he was able to name the owner, but he could not do this when his nostrils were stopped up with cotton.

Dr. Braid believed that hypnotism should be employed only by well-trained doctors. Since his day, it has been used by some doctors, but it also has been made a thing of the stage. People in the theatre have been amused when a hypnotized person has been made to bark like a dog or moo like a cow. That may seem "funny" but it is not a good way to use hypnotism.

HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, November 23, 1938

Benefic aspects rule strongly today, according to astrology. The stars stimulate friendliness and encourage gaiety, especially among the young.

Constructive plans should be pushed under this configuration, which is promising for public improvements, although many civic ambitions will be curtailed before winter.

It is wise to sign legal papers on this date. Contracts are well directed by the stars. Landlords will profit and rents rise.

Food conservation should be practiced through the winter. The cost of living will rise appreciably and expenditures will be a bit reckless as prosperity extends in the United States and Canada.

Owing to the influence of certain signs astrologers foretell a growth of intrigue, deception and misrepresentation which affects individuals as well as nations.

As reform movements progress, warning is given that successful leaders in good government will receive honors that remove them from places where they function for the general good.

Women should find this an auspicious day for clubs and philanthropic activities. Efficiency in public affairs will be attained by girls as well as by their mothers.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of profit and happiness. Reunions with relatives and friends will bring joy to many.

Children born on this day probably will be keen of mind and fair in judgment. Subjects of this sign of Saggitarius may combine many astute traits that assure success.

Tibet is the homeland of the buckwheat cake.

"Why, that's exactly like a hand I held in 1934! Wait till I think how I played it."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl of 16, in love with a man of 26 who is everything that a girl could want in a husband. But my family opposes the match. They say he is too old for me. I think the reason so many marriages are failures is because the husband is not old enough for the responsibility of supporting a family. Am I right? And what should I do? UNDECIDED.

Answer: Ten years is not too much difference between the ages of a man and wife if the man is older. Indeed, it is recommended by the marriage experts, who point out that if a boy and girl of the same age marry, the girl is so much more mature than the boy that her feeling for him is more maternal than wifely. She unconsciously assumes the attitude of a mother toward him and bosses him.

On the other hand, if the husband is a good deal older than the wife she looks up to him and is guided by him, which pleases the man and makes for conjugal felicity. Also, if the older man has any intelligence whatever he has learned enough about women to know [illegible] without friction. Which is valuable information that no young boy can possess.

And, still further, the very potent reason for a girl picking out a mature man for a husband is that he is generally better able to provide for her than a boy husband would be. But, my dear girl, in your case the objection is not to the man's age but your age. No girl of 16 should marry, because she doesn't know what she is going to want in a husband when she grows up and because she hasn't had her playtime of life. Wait until you are older before you settle such an important matter.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dr. Plaskett Back in City

Astronomer Elated at Completion of Work on Big Texas Mirror

Dr. J. S. Plaskett, C.B.E., former director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Little Saanich Mountain, returned to Victoria yesterday after eight months of almost continuous absence from the city.

He returned elated at the completion of the grinding and polishing on the new 82-inch mirror for a giant telescope at the Macdonald Observatory, Texas, which he has been supervising in his present capacity as scientific consultant for the firm of Warner and Swasey in Cleveland, Ohio.

During the summer Dr. Plaskett and his wife also attended the International Astronomical Union conference at Stockholm.

His joy over the completion of the "figuring" of the big mirror was caused by the fact that the final form was within one-millionth of an inch of theoretical perfection, a margin of error only one-third as great as that found in many of the world's biggest reflectors.

Dr. Plaskett supervised the work in Cleveland during the spring and again on his return from Europe in August up to October 14, the day when the work was finished and the results were finally known.

Dr. Plaskett hopes to go to Texas at the end of this year to see the mirror installed and to be present at its formal dedication next May, a ceremony which is to be attended by Sir Arthur Eddington, president of the International Astronomical Union, and other leading astronomers of the world.

Dr. Plaskett was enthusiastic about the Stockholm conference with regard to both the work done and the social arrangements made for the delegates.

While in Sweden he visited a number of the country's points of archeological interest. He is a former president of the British Columbia Historical Society.

During their trip to Europe Dr. and Mrs. Plaskett visited their son, Dr. Harry Plaskett, who is now in charge of the observatory at Oxford University.

CREDIT GRANTERS DISCUSS ACCOUNTS

Letter Important Phase In Collection of Delinquent Accounts

Letters of reminder as one phase in the procedure of collecting accounts were discussed at a meeting of members of the Credit Granters' Association at luncheon today in Spencer's dining-room.

The discussion was led by Glen Cox, who declared in most cases the best results were obtained with the sending of a letter four or five days after the date the account came due. These mail reminders generally took four forms, he said.

They were classified into appeals to fairness, pride, selfishness and finally fear, when all others had failed. In the last-mentioned case the debtor was informed of what legal action would be taken on a set date if the account was not cleared up before that time.

The question of how long a dilinquent account should be left by the creditor varied according to the nature and quantity of the business on the books, Mr. Cox asserted. The tone, he said, should vary according to the tone of the previous letter to the debtor.

It was decided at the meeting the Christmas recess would be from December 6 to January 10. L. E. Evenden was in the chair.

Eleventh Annual Campaign For Tuberculor Sufferers Conducted By Kiwanis Club

The forward-looking program of rehabilitating and training made possible through the Christmas seals, deserves the moral and financial support of every individual, Mr. Macfarlane said. The fact that the organized campaign has brought about a marked improvement in the outlook of those who have suffered the dread disease is proof that the work should be commended. Admits Forging Wismer's Name

Former R.C.M.P. Officer Pleads Guilty to Cheque Charges

Herbert M. Upton, former R.C.M.P. officer, pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to charges of obtaining money by false pretenses and uttering a forgery. Both cases arose out of the use of worthless cheques forged in the name of Hon. G. S. Wismer, Attorney-General.

Upton, also known as Tom Cooper, pleaded for leniency before Magistrate Hall, saying he wished to be sent to an institution for treatment for a nervous breakdown after he was released from jail. He was remanded until tomorrow for sentence.

On the charge of falsely obtaining money, Upton passed a cheque for $62 at the Empress Hotel, where he posed as a taxi-driver sent to the hotel by the Attorney-General to cash the cheque.

The second charge followed an attempt to cash a cheque for $90 with G. H. Patton. Mr. Patton told the court he had become suspicious of the accused and when he endeavored to contact Mr. Wismer to verify the cheque the accused had left.

In pleading with the court, Upton said he had given himself up to the Provincial Police recently on the charges. As a result of the nervous breakdown which he said he had suffered after six years with the Mounted Police, Upton said he had been in a "living hell" for the last two years to try and keep straight. He had received psychopathic treatment and been in the Shaughnessy Military Hospital, he said.

SIR GEORGE PAISH SPEAKS THURSDAY

Famous Economist Will Be Heard on Germany's Finance Methods

Sir George Paish, one of the best-known economists, will lecture in the First United Church for the League of Nations Society on Thursday night next.

Before the Great War Sir George was noted as a great economic editor and educator. Early in the conflict, he was retained by the British government as special adviser to the treasury. Since the war his world fame has resulted from the uncanny accuracy of his predictions. He warned the Allies that disaster would result from the uneconomic provisions of the Versailles Treaty. He fortold the stock market crash in 1929 and the depression.

Today, Sir George says, that the world faces an even more acute peril. In a speech which aroused deep concern throughout the United States he recently said all the nations were indulging in practices which must soon precipitate the most acute difficulties. He probably knows better than anyone else outside Germany precisely how the Nazis are financing their public works and their rearmament, and has interesting revelations to make in that regard.

Urges Improved Transportation

Faster and More Frequent Service By New Equipment, Says Beck

Victoria's present transportation system was ideally suited for the city as it was 50 years ago, but is definitely not suited for Victoria today, R. W. Beck, public utilities expert engaged by the city to advise it on franchise matters, said today.

His views on the transportation question generally were outlined at a meeting of Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate Board this afternoon.

"An important factor to be taken into consideration in the transportation question is that of service to the community," Mr. Beck said. "The people of Victoria are entitled to as good service as any other comparable city. It should not be necessary for people to have to walk a mile to catch a car, wait 20 minutes for one to come along and then spend 20 minutes riding into town. Modern transportation can be furnished in Victoria so the walk can be limited to two long blocks in 90 per cent of all cases. During rush hours the service should provide cars at 7½-minute intervals with a maximum of 15 minutes otherwise. Instead of spending 20 minutes to ride into town, a passenger could do it in 10 minutes in well-lighted, easy-riding and relatively noiseless vehicles.

"Victoria" and particularly the business men of this city, have another vital interest in transportation. Victoria's biggest asset is its attractiveness to tourists and to summer visitors. At present the first thing that strikes visitors is the noisy, delapidated and run-down transportation system. That remains in their memories long after they have gone home.

"If streets and boulevards were clean and open the impression would be one of beautiful streets and thoroughfares."

"This system is 50 years old," Mr. Beck said in reference to the street cars. "When it was built the automobile was not invented. There were virtually no paved roads nor cement sidewalks. People had to grope through mud and broken wooden sidewalks with lanterns to get around. The transportation system Victoria has today was ideally suited for those conditions from 20 to 50 years ago. But it is not suited to today's needs. In those days people built around street car lines. But today transportation goes to the people and residential buildings are constructed as far away from the car lines as is convenient."

Mr. Beck will meet the City Council tonight at 7.30, and it is understood he will make no definite recommendations on the specific type of transportation equipment for use here. That would be determined on a basis of economics, it was believed.

Details covering suggested fares and headways, as well as technical phases of a transportation system will be discussed. He will also go over the proposed city transportation by-law. This morning he spent several hours with F. L. Shaw and H. S. Pringle, city solicitors, and his local representative, L. F. Brimer, studying the by-law to consider amendments prior to its discussion tonight.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Pringle informed the council it could not introduce the by-law formally until it had accepted a transportation tender and included the name of the successful bidder in the contract.

Predicts Peace For Ten Years

College Professor Works Out Policy of Cancellation For Great Britain

That Great Britain was safe from war for at least another 10 years was the opinion expressed by Professor Sidney Pettit, instructor in history and librarian at Victoria College, in an address at a luncheon meeting of the Vic- press Hotel today.

The subject of Mr. Pettit's address was "A Guess at British Policy." By reviewing recent world events, the speaker arrived at a policy of cancellation for Great Britain, which had already halted war and would continue to do so.

Starting in the east and working westward, Mr. Pettit said that when Great Britain refused to form an alliance with the United States against Japan, an assurance of peace for India was made. Not that Japan would invade by force of arms, but economically. The fact that Great Britain did did not take sides against Japan also brought Russia, another threat to India, eastward against the Japanese.

Britain let Germany take over Austria, relieving the strain on France's borders. This also gave Russia more to think about and kept her mind off India.

Italy was allowed to take Ethiopia for another reason, the speaker continued. Italy was a threat to the whole of the Mediterranean. When she took Ethiopia her lines of communication were extended to great extents and her finances were tied up.

The speaker was thanked by Walter Walker. Jack MacFarlane, president, was in the chair.

During the meeting, Brian Burdon-Murphy and Jerry Green were introduced as new members of the club.

Frank Tupman was soloist. He was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Burdon-Murphy.

CAMERAMAN TALKS ON NEWS SHOOTING

Speed in Producing Pictures Told in Night School Address

Pictures are becoming increasingly important in modern journalism, Irving Strickland, the Times cameraman, said in an address "Shooting the News," given to the journalist class at Victoria High School last night.

The fields for pictures had increased rapidly the cameraman said. Pictures were dramatic and instantaneous. They conveyed immediate and comprehensive impressions sometimes lost in cold print unless the writer was unusually clever. Wherever big news broke, the cameraman was now sent, often rushed there by airplane.

Mr. Strickland told of the speed necessary in the production of pictures and the making of cuts to keep pace with the news of the day and how the telephoto process made it possible to produce pictures in newspapers thousands of miles away of events on the day they happened.

Barriers were being lowered and cameramen were being welcomed in places where at one time the doors would be closed to them. As a highlight of local news photography, he told of the visit to Victoria of President Roosevelt and the rivalry between cameramen, including newsreel men, for the best shots.

Forty-five cameramen were assigned to Victoria on that occasion, he said. Cameras were examined by a U.S. secret service man and they were given detailed instructions as to what pictures they were allowed to take, at what distance they must be from the President and where and when they could take pictures.

Many questions were asked the photographer at the end of his talk.

FOUR DEGREES OF FROST LAST NIGHT

Victorians looked out of their bedroom windows this morning to see the surrounding countryside coated with a thick, white frost and shivered as they crept out from under warm blankets. A report from the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill says there were four degrees of frost last night, the minimum temperature on the ground reading 28. On the night of November 10 and 11 the glass recorded a 25.6 temperature.

Another sharp frost tonight was forecast.

U.S. Defence and Trade Plans Grow

Washington Will Talk Language the Dictators Understand

By HENRY PAYNTER
Associated Press Business Writer

NEW YORK—The United States is about to embark upon new international and domestic policies of historic importance, in the opinion of some of the country's most prominent industrial leaders.

As they understand the policy now taking shape, important parts of which are expected to be presented to the Congress meeting in January, the United States will hereafter "talk a language the dictators understand," backing up diplomatic and trade policies with vast armaments.

They summarized the scope of the program—described as dwarfing by comparison the dreams of totalitarian nations—as follows:

1. An army, navy and air force which "could stand off the world."

2. Loans to other American countries for allied defence systems.

3. An international diplomatic drive to block further totalitarian encroachments.

STRONGER LINKS

4. Immediate diplomatic and economic rapprochement with all nations in the western hemisphere to forestall further political and trade penetration by aggressive European and Asiatic nations.

5. A swift drive to end unemployment, labor strife, and economic troubles within the United States to eliminate the chief argumen of totalitarian nations regarding "democracy's failure."

6. Peace between business and government—without loss of existing gains of liberal social legislation.

7. A heavy industry stimulation program correlated with necessary rearmament spending in an effort to bring prosperity.

While the full scope of the rearmament program may not become known for months, it now appears early estimates of its size, measured in dollars, although large—a round figure of $5,000,000,000 was several times previously mentioned—is likely to be revised upward, rather than downward.

LAUGH-GETTERS—Charles Ruggles, Joy Hodges, Mischa Auer, Constance Bennett, Vincent Price and Helen Broderick in "Service De Luxe" at the Dominion Theatre.

Anglo-French Defence Move

On Paris Visit Chamberlain Expected to Discuss Co-operation of All Branches

LONDON (CP-Havas) — The Daily Mail, independent, says Anglo-French "defensive co-operation by air, sea and land will be studied afresh" when Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Halifax confer with French statesmen in Paris tomorrow.

"It is thought France will ask for strong support by a big British army to be made available in an emergency," states the newspaper.

According to the London Daily Herald, Labor, Mr. Chamberlain and Premier Edouard Daladier will seek to regain some of the prestige and popularity which it said they had lost since they went to Munich and agreed to the partition of Czechoslovakia.

"It is significant that the colonial problem is not to be discussed at all," said the Manchester Guardian, Liberal. "Thoughts of such discussions have been discouraged by strategic consequences. Germany aspires to much more than the recovery of her former overseas possessions.

WOULD EXTEND AXIS

"She wishes to extend the Berlin-Rome axis beyond the Equator as well as to have naval, aerial and military bases. She hopes to secure at least the neutrality, if not the friendship, of the South African Union. Chancellor Hitler himself fully realizes the Union will not allow Southwest Africa to revert to Germany.

"He is quite prepared to "sacrifice' Southwest Africa with its German inhabitants to the Union (just as he has 'sacrificed' the southern Tyrol to Premier Mussolini).

"But he demands 'compensation.' He holds that the small powers, like Belgium and Portugal (or Holland for that matter) have no 'rights' to an overseas empire when Germany herself has none.

"He is willing to accept Belgian and Portuguese colonial territory in Africa as 'compensation' for Southwest Africa.

"Although a kind of coma has descended on the policy of 'appeasement,' it is clear that neither Mr. Chamberlain nor M. Daladier means to abandon the policy. They would seem to believe—though with little real conviction—that it is possible to come to to an agreement on the limitation of armaments, especially aerial armaments, with Germany. The danger is that any agreement on the limitation of armaments would only be accepted by Hitler if it condemned the western powers to permanent inferiority in the air."

Laughs Aplenty At Dominion

'Service De Luxe,' With Constance Bennet, Abounds With Comedy

Take two stars, three comedians, a crack director, an excellent story and a wealth of production—and literally and figuratively, you've got "Service De Luxe," the Universal laugh-maker, seen today at the Dominion Theatre.

The stars are Constance Bennett and Vincent Price. Perhaps it's a bit early to dub Price a cinema star. It is his first screen effort. But star he is, if a smooth, convincing performance, a truckload of personality and a heap of ability makes a star.

Price was for two years Helen Hayes' leading man in "Victoria Regina."

Miss Bennett turns in another of her perfection roles. She plays Helen Murphy, the competent manager of a big personal service bureau.

Getting down to the comedy element of the offering, it's there in an opulent degree. Charlie Ruggles, Mischa Auer and Helen Broderick form a threesome that grabs every inch of laugh-making material in the picture.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The zobah-hah, the devil-wind of Egypt, feared wherever caravans travel the desert, roars across the screen in all its cataclysmic terror in "Suez," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

"Suez" is 20th Century-Fox's spectacular story of Ferdinad de Lesseps and the great canal which has become the jugular vein of the world. Research experts found that the Sahara simoon was perhaps the greatest physical obstacle in the 100-mile path of de Lesseps, and so Darryl F. Zanuck included it in the production.

Tyrone Power interprets the canal builder's role in the film, sharing starring honors with Loretta Young and Annabella.

ATLAS THEATRE

Norma Shearer's blushes constituted the most difficult photographic problem solved by William Daniels, ace cameraman, during the filming of "Marie Antoinette," current attraction at the Atlas Theatre. The star blushes easily. During love scenes and dramatic emotional sequences of the picture, Miss Shearer's blushes required special lighting. Daniels worked out a system of lights to compensate for the blushes.

PLAZA THEATRE

As stirring to the senses as a reliable alarm clock, "Married Before Breakfast" brought bright comedy to the screen of the Plaza Theatre today.

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Edwin L. Marin directing, the new picture features Robert Young and Florence Rice in a romantic comedy with thrills. In the opinion of this reviewer the humor prodominates, which was probably entirely intentional.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

No set in Hollywood was filled with more hilarity and "ribbing" than the technicolor picture, "Nothing Sacred," at Selznik International. Carole Lombard had four days off, but showed up at the studio every day to watch and hear Fredric March, Director William A. Wellman, Walter Connolly and Charles Winninger between scenes.

"I wouldn't miss it," she said. "They should turn the camera around and shoot the other way." "Nothing Sacred" is at the Columbia Theatre.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Like many Scotsmen, Will Fyffe is never happier than when he has a fishing rod in his hand—except, perhaps, when he is making audiences laugh or cry at his own inimitable acting of humor, of which there is plenty in "To the Victor."

In "To the Victor" Will Fyffe is supported by Margaret Lockwood and John Loder. It is now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

STREET CARS VS. BUSES

To the Editor:—I have followed the letters appearing in the Times on the future transportation of Greater Victoria. Those who advocate continuance of the street cars have not given the car tracks much thought. As everyone unfortunately obliged to reside on roads where the tramway is can tell those in favor of street cars that the whole of the roadbed would have to be taken up and properly laid on a concrete base. This, I am given to understand by a contractor, would cost around $200,000. From personal experience I know as a fact within 500 yards of Fell Street, Oak Bay Avenue, plate glass has been smashed through stones being shot by passing motorists. These loose stones are caused by the road giving way at the edge of the rails. The B.C. Electric is constantly pulling up the roadway to repair this condition owing to the rotten bed on which the ties rest.

As regards the cars, well, I know that some of those cars have been in use since I came here 30 years ago. If we are to have street cars are we to have modern cars not the old or thrown out ones from Vancouver and a new track and extensions to, say Royal Oak and round the sea front and even to Cadboro Bay. Personally I think the mobile motor bus is what Victoria wants as it can even go to points 10 or 15 miles out and put passengers down by the curb instead of the dangerous method by street cars 10 or more feet from the sidewalks.

WHO KILLED THE LEAGUE?

To the Editor:—Your recent editorial "Never Been Operative" might have been titled as above and extended a little to "point a moral and adorn a tale."

While most of your readers will find themselves in sympathy with what you say, perhaps it would have been well to say the friends of the league are: The enemies of the league appear to be—.

This is what we find; the people of the world flocked to the support of the idea of a League of Nations to enforce peace and security. We found ourselves so much in harmony for once, that leaders were forced to conform, and rules were drafted for the operation of the league that came into being. We common people leaned back with a sigh and an ah! that's settled. But we reckoned without our politicians and we've been "done" again. The four main scandalous crimes committed against humanity were Japan's aggression against Manchuria, the forbidding of a union of German republics under a responsible government, Italy in Abyssinia and the rape of Spain; and no end in sight. I am sick with disgust and possibly can not see straight but it seems plain to me that the only enemy of mankind is Imperialism. Agreed? So what? A striking attitude of Britishers is that if we ignore an unpleasant subject we thereby make it non-existent.

I have been doing this very thing all my life, but have not yet attained the degree of inanity reached by the rulers of Britain. Their sole endeavor is the maintenance of peace through collective security; with such a record. This must be "the peace that passeth understanding."

One clause to which our rulers will not conform while they are still rulers is tenet three as you quote: "That there shall be genuine and equitable provision for peaceful changes in accordance with changed realities and for the peaceful redress of genuine grievances."

F. A. THORNLEY.

THAT "MISSING LINK

To the Editor—The "proofs" of Mr. A. B. Sanders' South African "missing link?" have now arrived on this continent! Recently Dr. William K. Gregory, curator of comparative anatomy at the American Museum of Natural History in New York arrived from a trip to South Africa. He brought with him measurements, casts and photographs of fragments of an ancient skull, which, he said, "combines ape and human characteristics in a way never heretofore seen." Here is the name which has been given to this skull, "Australopithecus Transvaalensis." He pointed out in the cast that while the top of the skull was definitely ape-like, the teeth were strikingly human. Now they are comparing the skull with the skulls of fossil apes and the skulls of the Peking man, etc. Our comment is, "What fools these mortals be!" No need to go to South Africa to find skulls with ape-like and human characteristics. There are plenty of them in New York and right here in Victoria. We admire the perseverance of these searchers—they are always at it trying to find the missing link. Trying to find what never existed!

The evolutionist has the audacity to speak about "Christian delusion," when his own gullibility is simply enormous! To enjoy some real humor and fun there is no need to read fiction or the comic strip, just follow up all the very latest vagaries and "findings" of the ape-minded, pseudo-scientists. Of these people the Bible says that having rejected the Truth they have believed a lie!

The believer in the Bible has nothing to be ashamed of nor has he any one to fear. He answers every challenge with a "Thus says the Lord!", and who is the foolhardy "worm" who dares defy the Almighty God, his Creator? The evolutionist while having not "a leg to stand on" is leaning on a broken reed. The Christian leans not on his own understanding but on that of the Omnipotent and Omniscient God, the Origin of matter, light and life, the great God of wonders and the God and Father of the Lord Jesus Christ, the Saviour of "whosoever will!"

HELPING OLD SOLDIERS

To the Editor:—I am no fist at writing letters but I see where there is a move to help us soldiers. And I want to say thank you and to wish success. I am 70 and my wife 69. I served 22 years in the R.C.R.'s. My pension is $9.99 a month. Did you ever try to keep a wife on 33 cents a day?

I try to get work as cook or waiter, but nobody wants an old man. We tried to buy a home but we lost it.

If God will put it in some good man's heart to help us he will do a wonderful thing for a few old soldiers nearing their journey's end.

Ground Training for Air Stewardesses

From now on, newly employed stewardesses of United Air Lines are going to a ground school for training before they enter actual service on the company's planes.

Establishment of an air stewardess "college" at Chicago was announced today in advices received by O. C. Enge, district traffic manager for United. Enge reported that new stewardesses will obtain 100 hours of experience in this school, whose equipment includes full-size upper and lower berths of the kind which are standard Mainliner sleepers, lounge chairs such as are used on day planes, and a model galley where the stewardess learns the knack of preparing and serving meals aloft.

In charge of the school is Miss Myrtle Frederickson, for several years an active stewardess. Classes in all phases of air transportation are conducted, with department heads, pilots and operations officials serving as lecturers in courses pertaining to their particular fields.

Under the former system, newly employed girls learned their duties under the guidance of fullfledged stewardesses on regular flights. Now the novice, after meeting strict physical and mental requirements, is enrolled in the school after making one observation flight.

Vancouver Seeks Non-stop Flight

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver may become the end of a non-stop flight of 6,400 miles during the visit here next year of King George and Queen Elizabeth if an invitation to be issued by Mayor George C. Miller on behalf of the city is favorably received by the British Air Ministry.

The harbors, utilities and airport committee, on the motion of Alderman J. W. Cornett, decided to empower Mayor Miller to suggest that the visit of their Majesties be commemorated by a non-stop flight of Royal Air Force fighting craft from London to Vancouver.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Capt. Albert Forslund, 74, one of British Columbia's oldest pioneer fresh water pilots, died at his home here over the week-end. He came to British Columbia 50 years ago from Sweden and started as pilot on the Arrow Lakes when the Arrow Transportation Company was in operation.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company later took over the organization. Capt. Forslund was pilot on the Arrow Lakes for 37 years until his retirement 13 years ago.

CHICAGO (AP) — Argentine reports of crop damage from frost and from rains tended to lift Chicago wheat prices a little today.

Advices current said a result of Argentine frosts would be considerable feed wheat in the south. Northern Argentina, it was reported, would have poorer quality wheat than Europe has been expecting.

Rockefeller Estate Put at $26,410,837

NEW YORK (AP)—John D. Rockefeller Sr., who died in Florida on May 23, 1937, left a net estate of $26,410,837, consisting principally of securities.

A transfer tax appraisal filed today listed the gross estate at $26,905,182, of which more than $17,000,000 was in United States treasury notes.

Virtually the entire estate was left in trust for a granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas, her two children, and the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. It was estimated the state would collect $4,616,467 in taxes.

Attorneys said the federal tax would run to $12,245,000.

Auto Show Sales Record for Ten Years

DETROIT (CP)—Automobile men said here today more cars have been sold at the 1938 automobile show than for 10 years. Show record revealed 1,483 cars have been sold on the floor with a total value of $1,630,000. Stimulated by the auto show, weekly new car registrations showed a gain over the same week in 1937.

TIN QUOTA

PARIS (AP) — The International Tin Committee today decided to carry into the first quarter of 1939 the sales quota of 35 per cent of standard output established for the final quarter of this year. In addition 10 per cent is allotted to the "buffer" pool set up to care for emergencies, as was the case in the current quarter.

Aircrafts Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircrafts, with a few exceptions, continued to point moderately higher in today's stock market while many pivotal industrials jogged along over a slightly lower trail.

Early losses ranging from fractions to a point or so were reduced in many cases at the close but the line of least resistance was still downward. Motors came back after noon and virtually erased morning declines.

Dealings were about as slow as in Monday's loitering session, with transfers approximating 900,000 shares.

Favored were Boeing, Ex-cello Aircraft, Aviation Corp., Bendix, National Cash Register, Phillips Petroleum, Goodyear and Electric Power and Light.

Canadian issues were mostly a little lower, although Dome managed a small gain. Hiram Walker dipped around a point and smaller losses were shown by Canadian Pacific and Dominion Stores. Canada 4s lost about ¼ point.

Further laggard tendencies were attributed mainly to tax selling for income returns, to additional weakness of the British pound in terms of the dollar and to the desire of many commission house customers to step out of the speculative picture over Thursday's Thanksgiving holiday.

Bonds

NEW YORK (AP)—Most bonds drifted downward today in a quiet market.

Numerous rails and other corporate issues toward noon showed losses ranging to around 2 points, although the average decline was only fractional.

Lower quotations for a number of foreign bonds seemed to indicate the trends. German 5½s and 7s continued to sag and some South American loans, including Montevideo 6s, were marked down sharply.

The U.S. treasury list was mixed and narrow.
